COURT PROCEEDINGS.

Petition to Remove the Wells Township School Board.

P. B. & E. LITIGATION.

An Interesting and Close Legal Question Is Raised—Orphans' Court Minutes Show the Appointment of Many Auditors and Action in Estates.

Trouble is brewing for the school directors of Wells township and as a result of an argument that has been going on in that locality since last August, there was Friday filed in court a petition signed by a number of school tax payers of Wells, praying that the directors be removed and a new board subsituted by the court.

The petition and complaint states that the members of the present board are A. B. Warner, Ashael Rynearson, Foster Wilson, G. D. Besley, George Luckey, and Charles McClure; that these men have, during the last year, wilfully refused and neglected and still wilfully refuse and neglect to perform their duties as school directorrs of the district. The particular charges state that in the latter part of August last, the common school kept in the district for many years and known as the Wortendyke subdistrict No. 6, was closed by resolution of the directors by reason of small attendance and the pupils in that district required to attend the common school at Aspinwall, known as Coryland two miles distant from the Wortendyke school house, and that on or about Sept. 1st, the directors employed Enoch Kilgore to transport the children of the district to and from the school, with the exception of the children of J. C. Campbell. According to the complaint, the residence of J. C. Campbell is about one mile from the school house that is closed and the distance to the Coryland school is about three miles, and that the road in Winter is often obstructed with snow drifts. It is further stated that the Campbell home is at a greater distance from the Coryland school than any other home in the district, and that the directors wilfully refuse to transport the three Campbell children to the school; the oldest of the children is 14 years of age and all are in need of and desire the benefits of a common school education.

Among the signers of the petition are the names of J. C. Campbell, J. H. Mason, J. L. Kilgore, Z. Roy, S. W. Putnam, F. C. Davis, S. C. Gregg, John Mott, G. B. Dellamp, and John Thompson.

The petition is presented under a recent ruling made by one of the state judges, and recently published in this paper.

Close Legal Question.

Before Judge A. C. Fanning in the court house on Saturday were argued the cases in which property owners in Franklindale brought action against the P., B. and E. Railroad company. The first of these, in which Mrs. Olive L. Brown was the plaintiff, was settled, the railroad company paying $400 and all costs of the proceeding. in the other cases, the court reserved decision.

Mrs. Brown, through her attorneys, S. H. Smith and William Wilson, contended that the company's employes had taken possession of her lands without ever having come to an agreement with her as to the price to be paid for the same, and had not taken any steps in condemnation proceedings. She filed a bill in equity, restraining the corporation from carrying on any further operations by securing an injunction.

The plaintiffs in the other suits are George M. Gilbert, Robert J. Marshall, Elizabeth Haight, Charles Siclar, and W. N. Bowen. D. C. DeWitt and William Wilson represent these plaintiffs, and William Maxwell and B. Kuykendall, Jr., are acting for the P., B. & E. The point involved in these cases is an interesting one from a legal standpoint, and will in all probability be carried to a higher court, however decided.

According to a state law, a railroad which is to be a common carrier may take land 60 feet in width upon payment of a fair price to the owner after the proper procedure; and where absolute necessity can be shown a strip 100 feet in width may be taken by the same process. The arguments heard Saturday by Judge Fanning were for a motion to reargue the approval of the original bond filed by the railroad company, and a counter motion by the P., B. and E. to amend the petition and bond.

Attorneys on both sides of the question believe it is a nice question as to whether the court here has jurisdiction to pass upon the point at issue. The court may pass upon the form of the bond, but the question as to whether or not the railroad company may take possession of the 100 foot strip appears to be another matter.

Orphans' Court Proceedings.

In orphans' court, Judge Fanning has made the following appointments and decisions: In the estate of Ella Celia Brace, E. E. Brace was appointed guardian ad litem. In the estate of Albert T. Maurice, C. S. Maurice as guardian was discharged. Lionel H. Dexter was appointed guardian of the estate of Beatrice A. and Fred C. Dexter. In the estate of Charles E. Waldo, a partition of the real estate is decreed. The auditors report in the estate of Mial Watkins, a citation is issued to Peleg Peck, administrator..

Estate of Irene McGovern. Account of Emma Beebe, guardian, confirmed and guardian discharged. Charter of West Granville Cemetery association filed. Charter and letters patent of Sayre Stamping company filed. Estate of Clara Wagner, allowance of $50 per year decreed.

ANOTHER OLD RELIC FOR HISTORICAL SOCIETY.

Hat Box of the Early Days Presented Last Week by J. V. Geiger.

An old fashioned leather hat box, the kind in use many years ago, when the blue umbrella and tall hat were carried and people traveled in stage coaches, was presented the Bradford County Historical society last week by J. V. Geiger, one of Towanda's oldest residents.

The hat box is covered with heavy leather and nicely padded on the inside though it is now somewhat worn; the lower part of the box is about ten inches across and about ten inches high with an extension of about 18 inches for the rim of the hat. Across the top is a small strap with a buckle at the end, which slips over a staple for fastening with a small padlock.

The hat box was presented Mr. Geiger many years ago by Henry Mercur, father of M. C. Ulysses, Harvey and Hiram Mercur, and is supposed to have been brought to this section from the old country.

The Henry Mercur residence in those days was at the corner of State and Second streets. The old home was moved across Second street to a lot owned by Mrs. Rice and afterwards by Ezra McIntyre, who demolished the old house and erected a new one in its place. Harry Mercur erected the present Mercur homestead on the lot from which the building was moved.

An Old Justice's Docket.

Mr. Geiger also has an old Justice's Docket that will be presented to the Historical society for the Sheshequin collection. A few years ago when carpenters were repairing the Mercur block in Towanda the book was thrown out on a scrap heap along with the brick and mortar where Mr. Geiger found it. The first entry was made March 29, 1845. And where judgment was granted against a person and they gave a check for payment the number and date of the check was given and the bank on which it was drawn and also read "which if good is in full for debt and cost."

BABY'S BURIAL DELAYED BY LAW'S COMMAND.

Red Tape Interferes With Removal of Body to Athens.

Because there was no one to explain the workings of the state law to her, Mrs. Alice Brown of Milan, was obliged to undergo a most harrowing experience Tuesday, at Athens. For nearly the whole day, she stood guard over the remains of her little child, who had died some time ago, and been buried in Milan. Mrs. Brown desired to remove the remains to Tioga Point cemetery at Athens.

Having, in all innocence, evidently proceeded to have the little body disinterred before consulting any health or other authorities Mrs. Brown presented herself to the sexton of the Tioga Point cemetery Tuesday with out any certificate permitting burial in that place. Although it was explained that the little one had died some years ago, and from a simple case of whooping cough, yet no exception could be made to the rules, and Mrs. Brown was obliged to get Health Officer Miller of Towanda by telephone, and he took steps to get the necessary permit from Milan.

UNDER THE WHEELS.

Thomas Dolan of State Road Killed by Lehigh Express.

HIS TEAM WAS ALSO KILLED.

Preparations Were Made to Take the Injured Man to Sayre Hospital But He Died Just as Train One Stopped to Take Him on Board.

A distressing accident happened Friday afternoon at 1:30 at the East Towanda crossing, resulting in the death of Thomas Dolan, a well-to-do farmer living on the State Road in Standing Stone township. Mr. Dolan, while returning from Towanda, was struck by the fast Lehigh Valley train, No. 4, and received injuries that caused his death at the East Side Hotel in about two hours after the accident. Dolan had a spirited team of horses and when near the crossing was warned of the approaching train, but endeavored to cross before it. The team was just on the tracks, over the first rail, when struck. Dolan was thrown by the impact nearly 50 feet, striking on a railroad tie or rail and receiving a fracture at the base of the brain and cuts on the face, hands and other parts of the body. He was carried to the hotel and Lehigh Surgeon T. B. Johnsoon, was summoned, and with Dr. T. Ben Johnson attended the injured man, who did not regain consciousness. Dr. Harry Fish of Sayre, was also summoned and preparations were made for him to take the injured man to the Packer hospital, but he passed away just before train one stopped at the station shortly after 3 o'clock. Mr. Dolan's relatives were notified of the accident and a son reached the hotel just before his death. He leaves a wife and several sons and daughters.

The horses, which were a young pair, were thrown nearly a hundred feet, one laying several feet away from the other close to the track; both were killed instantly. They were cut and mangled, one about the head and the other about the breast and hips. The rig was a light lumber wagon, apparently new, and was completely demolished; parts of it lay all along the track for about a hundred feet. The harness was cut and broken into many pieces, a collar lay many feet below all the rest of the debris and had been run over and cut in two.

The train which struck Dolan is one of the through trains of the Lehigh and as it does not stop at the East Towanda station was running at a high speed at the crossing where the accident occurred.

During the afternoon many people were over to see the place where the fatality occurred.

The body was taken from the hotel to Murphy & Campbell's undertaking rooms and prepared for burial.

Everything Will Be Home Talent.

The young ladies of the Theta Sigma society who are preparing to put on the Thanksgiving play this year are keeping busy forming and carrying out plans for the successful finish of the undertaking. On Saturday last a committee on advertising decided to issue a limited number of posters of unique design. These will have the reproduction in black and white and colors of a Western girl, the reproducing to be done by a Towanda artist; a Towanda girl drew the picture, and another Towanda girl is said to have posed for the drawing. If there are any towns hereabout that can excel this for "home talent" work, Towanda extends them congratulations.

Encouraging Game Reports.

In a circular issued on Saturday last Secretary Kalfbus of the State Game and Fish commission states that the reports as to the number and condition of game throughout the state is gratifying and shows the result of the measures taken recently for the protection of the wild creatures within the boundaries of Pennsylvania. Ruffed grouse, or pheasants are found in every county except Philadelphia; rabbits are everywhere plentiful and woodcock and even deer seem to be increasing rather than becoming more rare. All hunters seem to take pains to observe the game laws in a sportsmanlike manner.

Johnson's Horse Ran Away.

Going down a steep hill in Franklin township, near the residence of Alson Lantz, where the P., B. and E. surveyors had changed the course of the road, E. L. Johnson of Franklin, was injured Saturday night in a runaway. The horse driven by Johnson, a high spirited animal, becoming unmanageable, threw the driver out, and continued on his career. He was stopped only when he had fell and injured himself so badly that it was necessary to kill him. The wagon was also destroyed.

THE CLOSING GUN FIRED IN CONGRESSIONAL FIGHT.

Largely Attended Meeting Addressed By Mr. Lilley Monday Night.

The closing meeting of one of the hardest political fights ever waged in the Fourteenth congressional district was held in Hale's Opera House Monday evening. Addresses were made by Chas. M. Culver, Esq., Hon. Mial E. Lilley and J. Andrew Wilt, Esq. The house was well filled, there being a large number of ladies present. Mr. Lilley was most heartily received and he took occasion to state in plain language his view of the treatment accorded to him by his opponent. Dr. D. L. Pratt was chairman and introduced the speakers.

Mr. Culver was the first speaker. He stated that he was a supporter of Mr. Lilley because being a Republican he believed it his duty to support the nominee of his party. He urged Republicans to stand by their colors and not allow personal feeling to influence them.

Mr. Lilley spoke at length upon the manner in which the campaign has been conducted, declaring it to have been in many respects on the part of his opponents one of the most villianous in his long political experience. He took occasion, however, to emphatically state that he did not believe Geo. W. Kipp, his opponent, was personally responsible for the attacks made upon his personal character, but that his advisers and friends were. He detailed his position upon various questions that came up in the last session of congress and declared that when they again came up to be voted upon he would be found, if returned, in precisely his old position. Mr. Lilley was received with much enthusiasm.

The last speaker was J. Andrew Wilt, Esq., whodevoted a few minutes to giving some reasons why Mr. Lilley should be supported, analyzing his record in congress, and asking his hearers to point out any reason why he should not be supported by members of his party. The Germanias played several selections before the meeting.

BOROUGH COUNCIL MET.

Routine Business Transacted, and Bills Paid for Month.

At the regular meeting of the borough council held Monday night, with President Meredith in the chair, little but routine business was transacted. Bills to the number of 24, including the fixed charges of police, streets, lights and labor, amounting to $804.01 were paid .

It was moved and carried to lay on the table the motion to build a side walk on River street from Mix avenue to Chestnut street.

Attorney William Maxwell appeared before the board and stated that he had a message from George W. Kipp, of the Towanda Water company; Mr. Kipp had conferred with the secretary of the council, and wished to state through Mr. Maxwell that the matter of adjusting the difference between the water company and the local authorities would be taken up, immediately after election. Mr. Kipp, as a member of the company is ready and willing to do anything in reason to make and keep the water supply pure.

Attorney Harry Streeter appeared for the Lehigh Valley and made a report relative to the property of the company at a point where the borough desires to build side walks, but no definite action was taken.

Hibbard; "Teachers' Pensions," Miss Laura Lamb; "Literature in School," Miss Margaret Barrett.

Must Have a Preserve.

No less than nine nice grouse fell before the unerring aim of three local sportsmen one day late last week, George Smeaton, W. E. Dayton and George McCabe securing that number of the birds in a few hours and within a few miles of the borough limits.

KIPP FOR CONGRESS.

Unofficial Returns Give Him a Majority of 500.

WILL REQUIRE OFFICIAL VOTE

The Complete Vote in Towanda Borough and Figures Nearly Complete From the County at Large—Great Interest Manifest in the Returns.

At midnight Tuesday, with nearly all of the 71 precincts of Bradford county heard from, Hon. Mial E. Lilley, Republican candidate for congress, conceded the loss of the county by a majority of 600 for his opponent, George W. Kipp. Mr. Kipp and his friends claimed a still larger majority. The unofficial returns indicate an almost even thing, and it will no doubt require the official figures to decide. Neither of the candidates or their friends would concede defeat, and Secretary of the Republican county committee, W. J. McCabe, declared his belief that Mr. Lilley would have a small majority in the district.

While the congressional fight had been most strenuous and great interest was manifested in the returns, the vote was hardly up to that of two years ago on congressman, judging from the unofficial returns received. Towanda borough gave a total vote of 750 on congressman, as against 821 votes cast two years ago,

A dispatch received from E. B. Hardenburg of Honesdale, just before midnight, gave Mr. Kipp a majority of 400 in Wayne county; Susquehanna county county was estimated by the county chairman to give 900 for Mr. Lilley, while nearly complete returns from Wyoming county gave Mr. Lilley about 150 majority there.

The interest centered almost entirely on congressman, and but very few figures were received on governor, but those secured indicated that Emery, the fusion candidate would carry this county by at least 1,000 majority.

Returns Excited Much Interest.

Returns were received by both the Bell and the Independent telephones and over McCracken's stock exchange wire. Both the Western Union and the Postal telegraph offices closed promptly at 8 o'clock in the evening, and nothing could be sent or received over their wires. Manager Harry Loomis of the Independent telephone posted bulletins in front of his office, and also operated a stereopticon, throwing bulletins upon a screen. A big crowd of people watched the posting of these returns from 8 o'clock until nearly midnight.

Subpoenas in divorce were last week awarded by the Bradford county court to Minerva J. Parry against William T. Parry; to Charles E. Miller against Laura L. Miller; to Vashti McMillan against Albion McMillan, Malvina Carrier against Alfred E. Carrier.

REGULAR REPUBLICANS ELECT STATE TICKET.

Emery Forces Routed All Along the Line By Big Majorities.

The vote in Philadelphia, contrary to the information first sent out, was a substantial endorsement of the straight Republican party, the candidates on that ticket being elected easily.

The most exciting campaign in Pennsylvania in 25 years has ended in a triumph for Edwin S. Stuart, Republican, for governor, over Lewis Emery, Jr., Democrat and Lincoln party, by a plurality that the Republican leaders claim will reach 100,000.

Aside from the contest for governor, and other state officers, the chief interest centered in the battle in Philadelphia for district attorney, and in a few of the congressional districts. Members of the house of representatives and county officers were elected in every county, and state senators were chosen in 25 of the 50 districts.

Samuel P. Rotan, Republicaan, was elected district attorney in Philadelphia, by a vote which his friends claim will exceed 20,000, defeating D. Clarence Gibboney, who had the support of the Reform forces and the Democrats.

The incoming legislature will be strongly Republican, although not so overwhelmingly for that party as it was two years ago.

Of the congressional contests, the hottest was that against John Dalzell, one of the Republican floor leaders. Dalzell defeated Dr. R. J. Black, who was nominated by the Fusionists because it was thought he would be popular with the labor unions, which are strong in that district.

Senator Penrose sent the following telegram to President Roosevelt:

"We have elected Stuart governor of Pennsylvania and have also elected the entire Republican state ticket by substantial majorities."

All of the Philadelphia newspapers that had supported Emery and the Fusion movement, admitted Wednesday morning that their cause was hopelessly lost.

Democratic State Chairman Donnelly, in a statement, said:

"The Democrats did their duty, but the Lincolnites disappeared like a mist before the Roosevelt sun, which shone in the persons of Moody, Knox and Shaw. The Democrats were against the extravagance of the $13,000,000 capitol, but the returns indicate that there was a feeling on the part of the business interests of Pennsylvania that the election of congressmen was of more importance than the redemption of the state from machine control."

Edwin S. Stuart said Wednesday morning:

"I went before the voters of the state and told them what I intended to do. I believe they believed me and rallied to the defense of the Roosevelt policies. All pledges that I made I will fulfill. I thank the Republican voters of Pennsylvania."

Why your kitchen should have a

Palace Andes Range

The Palace Andes will do the most work, make you do the least work, and use the least fuel.

It will do the most work because it has an extra large oven and its oven heating flue system is so scientifically constructed that the very greatest baking efficiency is attained.

It makes you do the least work because its design is plain and devoid of "gingerbread" ornaments which require constant dusting, and because it has all these labor-savers—removable fire-box and grate, big, deep ash-pan, large broiler door, a reliable oven thermometer, and a new

which can be found on no other range. When the closet door is closed you have a warming closet between the low and the high shelves, and with the door open, the closet is converted into a large extra shelf space.

If you will stop in at our store we will be glad to show you all these Andes points and prove their value.

TOWANDA MEN IN SULLIVAN COUNTY SUIT.

Ownership of Valuable Coal Lands Still in Dispute.

At Laporte, the Sullivan county seat, the suit of W. W. Jackson and others vs. Rush Thomson and Walter B. Gunton were in progress last week with a powerful array of legal talent on each side of the interesting contest.

Seth T. McCormic senior and junior of Williamsport, Alphonsus Walsh of Dushore, and E. J. Mullen of Laporte, represent the plaintiffs. The defendants are represented by I. McPherson and R. A. Mercur of Towanda, J. W. Piatt of Tunkhannock, A. F. Hess of Dushore and A. J. Bradley of Laporte.

The suit concerns the ownership of the tract of coal land near Bernice, on which is situated what is known as the Lykens colliery. R. J. Thomson received a deed to this tract of land from the executors of the estate of the late George D. Jackson and leased the same to W. B. Gunton, who removed the coal. The plaintiffs aver that the deeds were wrongfully made and invalid, and are trying to recover the land and the value of the coal taken out.

Brewster A. Long.

Brewster A. Long, one of the best known citizens of the Western part of the county, died at his home in Troy borough at 6:15 o'clock Monday evening of Bright's disease. While he had been ill for a long time, his death was very unexpected, as he had been feeling unusually well for several days. Mr. Long was 63 years of age, and was born in Troy, the son of Hon. Volney M. Long. He received his education in the Troy academy and Dickinson Seminary, and the whole of his active business life was spent in Troy. For about 30 years he was the agent there of the Adams Express company, and for about an equal period of time a justice of the peace. He was always interested in fine horses and bred many notable animals. Surviving him are his wife of a second marriage, three daughters—Mrs. George A. Lamkin of Athens; Mrs. A. M. Baker, and Mrs. W. J. Ruggles of Towanda; and two sisters, Mrs. Alonzo Thomas of Alba, and Mrs. McCabe of Buffalo. Funeral services will be held on Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock, and the interment will be under the auspices of Trojan Lodge, No. 306, F. and A. M., of which he was a member.

METHODISTS ARE ANGRY.

Missionary Committee of Episcopal Church on Anti-Japanese Agitation.

Buffalo, Nov. 4.—The general missionary committee of the Methodist Episcopal church assembled in Buffalo to make its annual appropriations to home and foreign missions and expressed itself in the strongest terms with regard to the anti-Japanese agitation in California. The resolutions presented by the subcommittee appointed to draft it and adopted unanimously was in part as follows:

"With a sense of shame as Americans and a feeling of sorrow as Christians, we have heard from time to time of the indignities, insult and even violence inflicted upon the natives of China, Japan and Korea by certain classes of persons who resent the presence of these particular foreigners on American soil.

"The sentiment of humanity, not to speak of international hospitality or of the higher obligation of a great people to those whom they deem less favored, should ever protect such strangers as are found to be lawfully within our gates, even in the absence of the obligations imposed by the solemn compacts of international treaties.

"We particularly deplore at this time the reported municipal action of San Francisco, which discriminates against the subjects of a great and friendly power, action which, if rightly interpreted by our government, is in violation of our treaty obligations and the more to our discredit because directed against a people who have shown themselves humane even to their foes, a people in whose hearts there has been for decades a growing regard for the American nation, and under the strong protection of whose government Americans have found favor and safety."

FISHERMEN USE WIRELESS.

Telephone From Deep Sea Grounds For Prices and Get Answer.

Marshfield, Mass., Nov. 4.—The wireless telephone, it is claimed, has successfully entered into the deep sea fishing industry. For the past week experiments have been conducted by the wireless telegraph station at Brant Rock, which is equipped with a wireless telephone, with a small vessel stationed among the fleet of the south shore fishermen twelve miles out in Massachusetts bay.

Recently, it is asserted, the fishermen wished to learn the prices ruling in the Boston market. The operator on the wireless fitted boat called up Brant Rock and phoned the fishermen's request. The land operator asked Boston by wire, and the answer was forwarded back to the fishermen.

Statement From Senator Clark.

Butte, Mont., Nov. 4.—The Miner prints the following official statement from Senator Clark, wired from Laramie, Wyo., in denial of the interview alleged to have been given regarding his candidacy: "Pretended interview published in Chicago Record-Herald and in Denver papers quotes me as saying that I would accede to the wishes of my friends in Montana and stand for re-election. The report is false. I did not see a newspaper reporter while in Chicago or authorize such a statement."

TO GAIN ENTRANCE INTO PITTSBURG.

President Sawyer of P., B. and E. Interviews Railroad Magnates.

According to a special dispatch from Pittsburg to the Binghamton Herald, F. A. Sawyer of New York, president of the Pittsburg, Binghamton and Eastern railroad, now building between Clearfield, Pa., and Binghamton, and E. H. Gay of Boston, head of the house of Gay & Co., who finance the enterprise, were in Pittsburg Friday and held a conference with the local people relative to securing an entrance into the Pittsburg district.

In reply to questions, Mr. Sawyer said the completion of the railway between Clearfield and Binghamton is assured.

Ample capital has been secured for the enterprise. It is especially desirable that the road secures an entrance to Pittsburg. Whether this can be done by arranging for the use of the tracks of existing roads or whether an independent line will be built to this city is a matter which Mr. Sawyer said would probably be determined as a result of the visit to Pittsburg. During the day Mr. Gay met local officials of the Pittsburg and Western, and Buffalo, Rochester and Pittsburg roads.

The result of the conference was not made public.

ALBERT ROSENBERG HELD FOR INJURING HORSE.

Upon Complaint of Tunkhannock Liveryman, Who Alleges Cruelty.

After following his man all the way from Tunkhannock, Edward Mattison, a liveryman of that place, appeared before Justice Meredith Monday with a warrant for Albert Rosenberg, who he alleges hired a horse and drove it beyond endurance, so that the animal fell near Laceyville and broke its leg. Mattison demanded that Rosenberg be held under such heavy bail that he would have to go to jail here, being unable to pay the same. Rosenberg, who is a solicitor for a commercial house, is said to come here regularly, and he secured the services of an attorney to defend him.

Justice Meredith held Rosenberg to the Tunkhannock court demanding the payment of $75 bail, which Rosenberg furnished. He claims he did not mistreat the horse, which he says is not worth $25, and further claims that the animal was a stumbler and that Mattison can not hold him responsible for the loss of the beast.

CUNNING ANIMALS.

Those That Feign Death For the Sake of Protection.

The habit of feigning death for the sake of protection can be observed among many of the lower animals—animals which differ widely in family, genus and species. Indeed, this habit is to be observed in creatures microscopic in size and of exceedingly low organization, as well as in those as high in the scale of animal life as man himself, for even man does not hesitate on occasions to avail himself of this natural subterfuge when he thinks it will aid in the preservation of his life.

With the aid of the microscope one can observe and study the natural history of the minute animal world, which otherwise would remain a closed and unread volume. This instrument has shown me beyond cavil that creatures as low in the scale as actinophryans, very minute, microscopic animalcules, practice death feigning when surprised by an enemy from which they cannot otherwise escape. Thus I have, says a naturalist, repeatedly seen actinophryans fold their delicate, hairlike legs or cilia and sink to the bottom of their miniature lake (a drop of water) when approached by a water louse, which preys upon them. They remain to all appearances absolutely without life until the water louse swims away, when they unfold their cilia and go back to their feeding grounds—a bit of water weed or moss or decayed wood.

EIGHT DAY CLOCKS.

The Reason They Are Not Made to Run Just a Week.

The French have a fashion of expressing an indefinite but short period of time by the phrase "about eight days." Under similar conditions we would say "about a week." The French method seems unnatural, ours natural, for a week is a distinctly recognized period. We believe there is only one way in which we use the eight day period, and that is in making clocks.

Did it ever occur to you why we have what is called an eight day clock and not one made to run exactly seven days? There is a good reason for it. A clock that is made to run eight days is pretty sure to be wound on a certain day of the week, for it would be almost impossible for any one to remember to wind it on every eighth day. Therefore the interval between windings is seven days, precisely as the maker desired and expected.

The reason is that a clock runs better when it is not allowed to run down, or even nearly so. The same plan is followed in making a watch; it will run for thirty hours, but as nearly every man winds his watch at the same hour every day or night, the spring is never fully exhausted. Regularity in winding is one of the best means of keeping a timepiece in order.

"Yes; her husband robbed her of every penny she had."

"Poor dear! And all she married him for was because she was afraid of burglars."

There is precious instruction to be gotten by finding we are wrong.—Carlyle.

Secretary Metcalf says the toal number of immigrants this year may reach 1,400,000.

According to the Punxsutawney Spirit "Professional political reform is an attempt on the part of a well-meaning people to eliminate human nature from the conduct of public affairs."

The school board at Franklin having ordered 390 copies of Webster's dictionaries for the schools, a facetious citizens declares the books will be a "valuable and kurious relix when the nu stile of orthografy kums in."

At a session of dentists held this week in Cleveland, it was revealed that the price of false teeth is advancing at a rapid rate, the increase being due to the scarcity of platinum. If the price continues to advance, it is believed by those interested, that false teeth will become as scarce as the proverbial hen's teeth.

In some sections of the state the voters living outside of the cities have seen so much in their daily newspapers lately about the supreme importance of registering that some of them imagine they will not be able to vote because they are not registered. But citizens living in boroughs and townships are not affected by the registration acts ,which apply to the cities of the commonwealth only, and will vote this year as in former ones.

The public airing of the Castellane-Gould domestic troubles has revealed a state of affairs that is even worse than has been suspected. The pride that has prompted this foolish American girl to suffer in silence so many years seems to have at last been conquered, and she will acknowledge before the world that she made a mistake in trading her millions for a title, accompanied by an unprincipled cad. Let us hope that the experience of Anna Gould may prove a warning to American women of the future who may be tempted to exchange fortunes for empty foreign heraldry.

The Engineering News is not quite certain whether there were outside guard rails on the drawbridge at the Thoroughfare, but is greatly astonished that there were no inside guard rails, which it regards as absolutely essential to safety. The timbers fastened outside the tracks appear to be braces rather than guard rails, so that the draw seems to have been without either inside or outside guard rails, and so far as the public information goes the motormen were expected to take the draw at a high speed, which is a very unusual course, as the reasons for extra precautions at bridges that open are too obvious to require discussion.

Even in our prosperous Pennsylvania towns the demon of destitution seizes his hapless victims at times. Thus a story comes from McKeesport to the effect that a recent death from pneumonia revealed the hopeless destitution of a foreign woman and her remaining child. The husband deserted his family a year ago. When found the woman was living in a cheerless cellar, without fire, with but little furniture, without a bed and practically without food. The man who is responsible for this condition of affairs is probably taking life easy, boarding at some hotel and eating the best the market affords. It's a way some creatures in the form of men have.

BRIGHT TRADE PROBLEMS.

While the political problems have been occupying a large share of public attention in the past few weeks, they have not been allowed to interfere with the brisk preparations that are everywhere being made to handle what promises to be the largest volume of trade of any Fall and Winter season in the history of the country.

Only one discordant note is heard in all this cheerful song of prosperity, and that is that the railroads are unable to deliver the big consignments of goods as promptly as the urgencies of trade demand. Factories and mills are also taxed to their utmost capacity to fill the orders that are pouring in upon them in several lines of manufacture.

These are only temporary inconveniences that emphasize the general prosperity of the country. The ingenuity of the transportation managers and the enterprise of manufacturers will soon provide the proper remedy for all such defects and a record-breaking holiday trade may confidently be expected.

WHERE WINTER IS WELCOME.

Complaining about the weather is one of the worst of habits and little short of this is discontent because one season has changed into another. The true philosopher takes things as they come and extracts pleasure from each period as it passes. A common phase of current complaint is expressing dread of approaching cold weather, many people especially rural residents, looking forward with a feeling akin to horror at the coming of Winter. But of all the people farmer should welcome the Winter. It is his only time of rest, his only chance for leisure. Then only can he indulge extensively in reading, which is not only a pleasure, but educational and informing, if the books and periodicals are wisely selected.

Work on the farm is comparatively light during the three Winter months. They constitute a calm between two storms, a lull between the bustling activity of Spring and the busy garnering of the Autumn. Feeding of the stock, milking, getting in the fuel, repairing and mending, with other odds and ends, make up pretty much all of the duties. The farmer's family then find almost their only time for social pleasures. Company is welcome, for there is time to entertain it; congenial visitors are given the "glad hand" insteady of the hasty glance and begrudged word forced by the necessities of the busy season.

All farm organizations hold their meetings and do their talking when the snow is flying and the thermometer sinking. It is the season for the poultry shows as well as the principal fat-stock and horse shows. Only at this season is it possible to find time for trips to visit distant relatives, the absent son, the married daughter or for the children to return to the old homestead.—American Farmer.

USE NEWSPAPERS, INSTEAD.

At its annual meeting at Milwaukee the American Civic association devoted much of its time to the discussion of the question of abolishing the unsightly sign boards and posters which disfigure the streets of many American cities. "Down With the Bill Boards!" was the rallying cry of the association, and the discussion on this matter was of most interesting character. What was said regarding this disfiguring appearance of ugly signs and advertisements on streets and landscape in this country will meet with the approval of every beauty-loving citizen.

In some states laws have been passed prohibiting the placing of unsightly and objectionable signs and posters in the streets of cities and rural communities, and it is the aim and purpose of the American Civic association to continue its efforts along this line until every vestige of this nuisance shall be removed from public sight.

No city or town can lay claim to being beautiful which permits its streets to be disfigured with advertising signs of every description and character. The fact that this method of advertising is a waste of money because the people pay little heed to the signs except to remark upon their incongruity in the picture beautiful, should induce the advertisers to abandon a practice which is most objectionable to good public taste.

DELAYS ARE DANGEROUS.

Unless extraordinary measures are taken, there will be trouble in New York county on election day. The way things stand, it rests entirely with the printers in that county as to whether any election can be held on the day appointed. Legal entanglements caused by the political gyrations of one William R. Hearst are responsible for the trouble, of which a dispatch in the New York Times says:

"There is doubt in the minds of the members of the election board whether the ballots for Tuesday's election can be printed in time. Never before has so short a time been allowed the printers to get out the enormous amount of work before them, and it was admitted early Thursday morning, when the decision of the court of appeals was received, that only by the exertion of every energy that the ballots will be in voting places when the polls opened on Tuesday morning.

"The actual work of printing is a big task. There must be printed 3,000,000 ballots and they are to be divided among 1,487 election districts. Every one of them must be in the hands of the inspectors in each district before the polls open on Tuesday morning."

It is a big job, but from a knowledge of New York printers, we guess they will find a way out.

REFORM SPELLING HARD HIT.

Justice Fuller, of the United States supreme court, does not take kindly to the Roosevelt-Carnegie spelling reform. The printer has taken the liberty to spell through "thru" in one of Justice Bradley's opinions, and Justice Fuller rebelled. He did not believe that the change of the manner of spelling of the word through was an exact rendering of Justice Bradley's official opinion.

With the supreme court joining the Bugville Debating society in an onslaught upon the dictum of the president and the Laird of Skibo regarding reform in orthography, it is likely, thinks the Williamsportport News, that the common people will divide their allegiance between the two factions and that those who cannot be sure that they really know how to spell correctly will continue to spell as they please, while the other kind will consult Webster's dictionary when they are in doubt.

WILL CROKER COME BACK.

New York had a new theme of excited expectation in the last few days of the canvass. Richard Croker's cable message to Senator McCarren has stirred up all sorts of rumors and the most definite of these is that Mr. Croker is coming back from Ireland to bring Charles F. Murphy to an accounting for his sell out of Tammmany Hall to Hearst. Senator McCarren is said to have a second telegram in which Mr. Croker intimates that he will be back before the end of the year.

Why Mr. Croker should cable to McCarren was a question asked everywhere Saturday. He left the affairs of Tammany Hall in Murphy's hands, and it might be expected that he would communicate with Mr. Murphy. He may have done so for all that can be learned at this time. If so, Murphy has kept the message to himself. The character of the message to McCarren, however, makes clear why the absentee master of Tammany wires to the Brooklyn leader at this time. He expresses hearty approval of what McCarren has done in bolting Hearst and just as hearty disapproval of Murphy's selling out. No doubt Mr. Croker knows that the Kings County committee has been sending out to every enrolled Democrat in the county a circular advising that his duty at this juncture is to put his mark under the star and one opposite Mr. Hughes's name—thus voting for all the Democrats except Hearst.

IRELAND'S POPULATION.

The Irish question is never answered. For half a century it has been one of the living issues before the British Parliament. It has again come to the front and is now occupying a larger attention than any other piece of legislation. And ignoring entirely the straight-out question of home rule, it would seem to be high time for Great Britain, on purely economic grounds, to revise most radically its government of Ireland.

The situation in that country is truly remarkable. Sixty-five years ago the official census gave the population of Ireland as 8,175,000. In 1901 the official census returned but 4,485,000, while up to the middle of the present year there had been a further decrease of 72,000 persons. The land of the shamrock has today only half as many people as it contained in 1841. There has been during this time no devastating war and no wasting epidemic. There have been famines, but they were hardly more severe than have visited other portions of the globe. The birth rate has regularly exceedled the death rate, showing a natural growth for the country.

And yet, with a fertile soil and a healthy climate, Ireland has steadily and rapidly decayed. It is going backward, while every other civilized land under the sun is going forward.—Philadelphia Press.

PROSPERITY AND TARIFF.

The Portland Oregonian says "the demand for tariff revision cannot be hushed by the reply that the country is prosperous." Of course it cannot. It is a failing of the American people to become discontented with prosperity. They are like colts in good pasturage; when they get full, they love to kick up their heels and have an irresistable desire to break through the fence which keeps the intruders off the grass reserved especially for them. We quite agree with the Oregonian on this point; but we beg to remind our contemporary that after the demand for revision, which cannot be hushed, proves effective and brings disaster, it will not take a very long time before another demand will arise which will not be hushed until prosperity is restored. But meanwhile there will be suffering and disorganization of business, retardment of progress and everything else that is the converse of prosperity. It is an old story, but there is not the slightest doubt that it will be repeated again as soon as the present dose of prosperity proves more than we can bear.—San Francisco Chronicle.

WHERE BRUIN CAME FROM.

In its usual summary way, the Sullivan Review shatters the pride of Bradford over the bear "we" killed at Burlington. Says the Dushore paper:

"Three days and nights last week were devoted by the citizens of Burlington to hunting down a big black bear. He was finally rounded up and killed, and now everybody is wondering where he came from, for big game is an unheard of thing in that section. We know. He was a Sullivan county bear. We have missed one of our bears, and that must have been the one. He wandered around from the top of the mountain in Elkland down into the Towanda creek valley, and then crossed over onto the next ridge, and finally wound up his career at Burlington. We want his hide sent home."

CAN NOT FRIGHTEN HIM.

Maxwell Stevenson, atorney for Dr. Swallow, has served notice of a suit for libel upon Hon. Charles Emory Smith, editor of the Philadelphia Press, for the publication of a recent criticism of the doctor. John G. Johnson, attorney for Mr. Smith, in acknowledging the notice, obligingly says that in view of the fact that another article equally objectionable to Mr. Stevensson's client will appear before the close of the week, it might be well to await its appearance before instituting civil actions. Mr. Stevenson will doubtless appreciate this overpowering courtesy.

CONGRESS.

It is not good tidings that Bradford county sends to President Roosevelt and the country this morning. A great Republican county which has faltered but once or twice in her allegiance to the great principles of the party has been swept from her moorings and carried into Democratic waters. She has placed the seal of her condemnation upon the man whose every vote as her representative has been loyal and true to the President's administration and has given her verdict in favor of him whose every political act has been in opposition to it.

To all sincere Republicans of this district who place the success of the policies of the President and the principles of the party above personal disappointment and ambitions, this result is one of grievous disappointment and humiliation. That this great county of Bradford, the very bulwark of Republicanism, whose history has been marked by an almost unbroken line of brilliant successes at this time of crucial test should trail her victorious banner in the dust and deliberately choose a Democrat to represent her in congress, is humiliating, indeed.

It is useless at this time to attempt to point out the causes of this result or attempt to show where its responsibility rests. The figures elsewhere printed speak more eloquently than words and fix unerringly the blame for this great disaster to the Republican cause. It is not wise perhaps to indulge in recriminations or charges but Republicans who have not allowed passion and disappointment to becloud their judgment must see where present conditions will carry the party if allowed to continue. Will the Republicans of Bradford county heed this lesson?

At this writing official figures cannot be given but Kipp's plurality in the district will probably be in the neighborhood of 400.

In Bradford county Kipp's plurality will be about 875.

In Susquehanna county Mr. Lilley will probably have a plurality of 700 or 800.

In Wayne Kipp will lead Lilley about 500 votes.

In Wayne county Lilley has a plurality of 176.

BE CAREFUL ABOUT YOUR WILL.

An interesting decision was rendered last week in the probate court in New Haven. It seems that a certain man made a will, duly signed and attested. In that will he made a provision for his partner. Some time later the partner died, and the testator without consulting a lawyer, wrote the word "Mrs." before the name of his partner, so that it should read that she was to have the legacy that he had intended for her husband. It was brought out in court that the interlineation was made after the will had been witnessed, and so Judge Cleaveland admits the will, but declines to admit the interlined part of it, thus cutting off the widow of the partner from what was intended for her. No doubt, everybody will call this a perversion of justice. But it is apparently strictly a legal decision. Property can only be handed along by the dead in accordance with certain rules of law. A man on his deathbed can say that he wants all he possess to go to Trinity College, but, if he does not put this wish on paper in the prescribed form, it will go to his heirs, in accordance with the law. The law requires that the will shall be signed by the testator in the presence of three other persons who also as witnesses must sign it. Obviously this interlineation was not witnessed. The person making the will should have gone about his business in the proper way. He ought to have made a codicil and had that witnessed. It seems unfair to cut people off from property that was intended for them, but it must be remembered that giving by will is entirely a privilige granted by law—an artificial condition. The state that grants the privilege of transmission by will has the right to regulate the will as it sees fit. Anybody who is alive and compos mentis can give away his possessions; that's the time to do it untrammeled. After you are dead, you can't do much of anything. It is best, therefore, in making a will not to be too wise. Hire a lawyer.—Hartford (Conn.) Courant.

The business of the country has increased so largely during the past two years that all lines have been forced either to add to the number of their employes or to get more work out of those previously employed. In some cases the latter has been done with much success. One of the Eastern railroad lines, at a junction point in Pensylvania, is now handling 800 cars a day more than it handled at the same point three years ago, and the receipts of this point are $70,000 a month larger than they were in 1903. Yet all this additional work is being done by the same number of men as handled the smaller volume of business. Doubtless there are many similar cases, in which a great deal more work is being done with a small, if any, increase in the number of employes.

A Brave Singer.

"I tell you," said one man to another as they emerged from the dimly lighted corridor of a concert hall, "I envy that fellow who was singing."

"Envy him!" echoed the other. "Well if I were going to envy a singer I'd select somebody with a better voice His was about the poorest I ever heard."

"It's not his voice I envy, man," was the reply. "It's his tremendous courage"

A GOOD FIGHT.

The campaign of 1906 in Bradford county will pass into history as one of the most desperate and hard fought political battles that the Republican party has ever known. But in the congressional fight almost one man against the combined hosts of an army, led and captained by men hungry for the spoils, thirsting for revenge and equipped with everything that unlimited cash could supply. It is a fact, undeniable and most discreditable to Republican leadership, that the party nominee did not have in this county, the cordial, active and united support to which he was entitled from the party leaders. Divided counsels, jealousy, disappointments and kindred causes have had their natural result. Mr. Lilley may be defeated. But he made his fight almost alone—and a heroic and brilliant fight it was—against overwhelming odds. Although he may be defeated he will have the satisfaction of knowing that he did all possible things to secure success, and that the great majority of the Republicans of the county stood behind him loyal and true to him and the cause he represented.

FISHERMEN LAWFULLY FINED.

Court Decides that State Has Control of Private Streams.

The Lehigh county court has received notice that the superior court has sustained Judge Trexler of Allentown, in an opinion upon the state fishing laws. The case is one which is liable to arise at any time in Bradford county and will be of interest to fishermen and sportsmen generally.

Five local fishermen were arrested upon a charge of fishing with a net in Helfinch's Spring, a private body of water, with the permission of the owner. After a summary conviction before a local alderman, by whom each was fined $25, they took an appeal to the local court, under the act of 1901. Judge Trexler decided that the state has control over the fish in private streams, and sustained the summary conviction, which the superior court affirms.

STUART ELECTED.

Edwin S. Stuart, the Republican candidate for governor, is elected. It is impossible to make a reasonable estimate of his plurality over Emery, the Democratic and Lincoln candidate, and the indications are that the vote will be close. Stuart made heavy gains in many counties over the Berry vote of a year ago, and Emery fell behind in numerous districts where it was estimated he would poll a heavy vote. Rotan, the organization candidate for district attoorney, carries Philadelphia by a decisive majority over Gibboney, the city party candidate.

The next congress will be Republican by a good working majority, probably 60, and President Roosevelt and his policies will be loyally supported in both branches of the national legislature.

UTES TO GO BACK HOME.

Indian Leaders Yield to Arguments of Government Troops.

Sheridan, Wyo., Nov. 4.—A conference between the Indians and troops resulted in an agreement on the part of the Utes to return with Colonel Rogers to Fort Meade, S. D., to be taken care of there by the government while Chiefs Red Cap and Black Whiskers go to Washington to talk the matter over with President Roosevelt. The Utes will go overland with troops of the Sixth cavalry. The Indians have not been disarmed and will not be as long as they take no threatening actions.

The chiefs in attendance at the conference, who were sent by the band with power to act, were Red Cap, Unknahkin and Ponnap. Chief Black Whiskers stayed with the Ute band.

Before leaving for the council the Utes had a dance in the open and solemnly discussed the situation.

Raisin Crop Oversold.

San Francisco, Nov. 4.—The present year is remarkable in the raisin business in California. A great crop was expected. The grapes grew, but lacked in sugar. This caused them to shrink, and there is a great shortage in the weight of the expected home supply. It is reported that 50 per cent of the estimated output of Valencia and Malaga raisins, which compete with the California product, was ruined. The large dealers in raisins in this city assert that the crop here is oversold, and all transactions have come to a standstill.

Running as Exercise.

The fact that a person is capable of doing the best running and speed walking before the thirtieth year need not lead those who have passed the third decade to think that they are on the down grade of life, says an authority. These exercises call for elasticity of the arteries, and that lessens soon after the thirtieth year, but powers of endurance increase in the well preserved man or woman up to fifty or fifty-five or even later. Soldiers of fifty are like leather and can perform feats of endurance that would kill the stripling, and the same is true of women.

Battleship Virginia In Collision.

Norfolk, Va., Nov. 4.—The battleship Virginia and the Old Dominion steamer Monroe in from New York, the largest of her line, were in collision in Hampton Roads, the Monroe ramming the battleship. The Virginia's afterport guns and davits were damaged. The Monroe's prow was badly bent.

Student Has Foot Cut Off.

Newburg, N. Y., Nov. 4.—John Rudd of Washington, a pupil of the Stone school at Cornwall heights, had a foot cut off at the West Shore railroad station at Cornwall. He fell while boarding a train.

CHARLES E. WELLS.

Death Overtakes Another Bradford Patriarch and Civil War Veteran.

At his late home in Ulster, on Saturdaay, Nov. 3, occurred the death of Charles E. Wells, in his 78th year. He was one of Bradford county's best men.

Charles E. Wells was born in the town of Florida, Schoharie county, N. Y., on May 7, 1829. From early manhood he was engaged in the milling business until the opening of the war of the Rebellion when he entered the navy. He saw active service under Farragut in Mobile Bay, being an officer in the West Gulf Squadron, on the ship Glasgow.

In 1868 Mr. Wells built the flour and feed mills of Ulster in which place he lived to the time of his death, with the exception of a brief period passed in Macedonia. Mr. Wells was twice married, his first wife being Almira Mason, second daughter of G. F. Mason of Towanda. Of this marriage three children survive. Mrs. A. J. Knollin of Chicago, Ill., Mrs. E. H. Owlett, Wellsboro, Pa., and C. Arthur Wells of St. Louis, Mo. His second wife was Mrs. Curtis Payne of Monroeton, who survives him with two children, Mrs. W. B. Horton of Buffalo, Miss Emma Wells of the Sayre public schools.

The funeral was held at his late residence in Ulster at 3 p. m. on Monday, the Gilmore Post, of which Mr. Wells was a charter member, attending in a body.

The interment which took place at Monroeton on Tuesday was in charge of the G. A. R. Post of that place.

WILL LOSE HIS LIMB.

Charles Lane of Burlington, Sustains Serious Injury.

As the result of a painful accident, Charles Lane, son of Edward Lane of Burlington township, will, it is feared, lose his leg, word to that effect having been sent from the Packer hospital, where the young man was taken for an operation.

While at work on his father's farm, Lane had occasion to climb upon an engine that was being run to operate some farm machinery; his foot caught in the belt and was fearfully torn and lacerated. He was taken as soon as possible to the hospital, where it was found necessary to amputate the limb above the ankle to prevent blood poisoning.

AGED LEHIGH WORKMAN CRUSHED UNDER CARS.

George Peters, Veteran Sayre Shop Man, Meets Fearful Death.

Attempting to cross the Lehigh Valley railroad tracks on his way from work in the cabinet shop at Sayre, Tuesday night, George Peters, a veteran employee, was caught under a moving freight car, and crushed to death, his body being badly mangled and torn.

The old man, having put in a long day, tried to take a short cut across the big yards. At a point just North of Lockhart street, he was held by a long freight train, which came to a stop. After waiting impatiently for some moments, Peters believed the train would stand long enough for him to crawl under. When he was under the cars, the train started, and the aged railroader was caught in a fearful death trap. Both legs were amputated below the knees, and there were other injuries, any one of which must have been sufficient to cause death.

As soon as the accident happened Dr. Fish was summoned and the hospital ambulance was called, both arriving in less than five minutes. Dr. Fish and Dr. Lynn of the hospital staff of surgeons, examined the man, and said that death had resulted from the shock.

The remains were taken from the baggage room to Rogers & Miller's undertaking rooms in Athens, where they were embalmed, and later taken to his late home at 132 South Hopkins street. The deceased was aged 71 years, and is survived by his wife, a daughter, Mrs. Miller of Sayre, and a step-sister, Mrs. Finch, of Athens.

PLANS TO EXTEND THE P., B. AND E. LINE WEST.

Pittsburg Conference Reveals Scope of Territory to Be Covered.

A special dispatch from Pittsburg says that the conference between President F. A. Sawyer of the P., B. and E. company, and several railroad men of prominence is concluded and that Mr. Sawyer's visit to Pittsburg will result in the Pittsburg, Binghamton and Eastern being extended from Cleargeld to New York with all possible haste.

Papers were filed in Harrisburg early last month merging the Pittsburg, Binghamton and Eastern, the Susquehanna Central and the Tioga and Clinton railroads under the name of the Pittsburg, Binghamton and Eastern Railroad company.

Minor details in connection with the merging of these lines were closed a few days ago.

Instead of extending the Pittsburg, Binghamton and Eastern from Clearfield to Dubois, to connect at that point with the Buffalo, Rochester and Pittsburg, the officials have decided to build a new line from Clearfield across Clearfield and Indiana counties to South Bend, Ind., where connection would be made direct with the Pittsburg and North Eastern.

If the latter route is chosen the Buffalo, Rochester and Pittsburg Railway company will not be interested in the proposed system, although connection will be made at South Bend.

Wreck Averted.

The Lehigh Valley Railroad company's Black Diamond express had a narrow ecape a few days ago from being wrecked near Geneva Junction, N. Y., and a great loss of life was averted by the presence of mind of Engineer Farley. While the train was going along at the usual fast speed a tire of one of the large driving wheels broke, and partly fell from the wheel, which in turn wrecked the wheel, then caused one driving rod to snap in two and was closely followed by the breaking of the other driving rod. The broken driving rods badly wrecked the machinery and the cab, while Engineer Farley had a narrow escape from being struck and killed.

Jail Breaker Captured.

Ward Loper, one of the five prisoners who broke jail at Wellsboro last June, was captured at Canton, O., on Oct. 25, by Sheriff Wilson of Stark county. Loper was working on a ranch and when approached by the officer he denied his identity. He made an attempt to escape and the sheriff was compelled to fire several shots at him before he halted. Young Loper was awaiting sentence for larceny in the sum of $200 from Martin Gleason when he broke jail. Mahlon Parsons is th eonly one of the five still at liberty.

Kilborn—Williams.

A pleasant wedding occurred at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Williams Oct. 18, 1906, when their daughter Jennie Caroline, was united in marriage to Archie M. Kilborn of Union. The marriage ceremony was performed at 8:30 o'clock beneath an arch of evergreens and Autumn leaves by the Rev. Mr. Blair, pastor of the Church of Christ at Alba, in a very impressive manner. They were attended by Misses May Thomas and Jennie Preston as bridesmaids, and Messrs. Lewis and Samuel Williams, brothers of the bride, as groomsmen.

Little Willie Drake Home.

With his limb saved to him through the skill and scientific surgery of the physicians of the Packer hospital, litle Willie Drake, the two years old son of William Drake of East Towanda, was brought to his home by his father last week. Th coperation by which Dr. Ott fastened the torn ligaments with silver wires until the bone and sinew had knit together was in every way successful, and marks the completion of one of the most interesting and gratifying cases recently coming to the busy hospital.

Formerly of Scranton.

James Toby, who was murdered at his home in Vestal, near Binghamton, last week, and for whose death Frank Miner was arrested, was a former street car man in Scranton. He worked and lived there for years and left last Spring for the place in which he met his death. Toby had the distinction of being the biggest and heaviest man who ever worked for the Scranton Railway company. He was a motorman, weighed 280 pounds and was of such size that few persons could stand on the platform of the car he was running.—Scranton Tribune.

Hospital Needs Earnest Support.

An erroneous impression has gone abroad that the Packer hospital at Sayre is now self-supporting and that no further aid from the auxiliaries is necessary. The officials of the hospital desire most emphatically to correct this misapprehension, and have sent communications to all the auxiliaries urging them not to allow the contributions for the support of free beds to fall short. The hospital is still in debt and the assistance of the public is absolutely necessary for the proper conduct of the work.

Broke Little Boy's Leg.

For no apparent reason, it is alleged, Sherman Wilcox, who had been observing Hallowe'en with friends, seized the 11 years old son of Charles Ross, who was one of a number of lads on the covered bridge Wednesday evening, and threw the boy to the ground so forcibly that his leg was broken. Constable McCracken was appealed to, and placed Wilcox under arrest. His hearing is postponed until Dec. 1, when it is believed that the Ross boy will be able to appear against the prisoner.

Keep It Up.

The plan suggested by one of the county High school principals at the last institute to organize a county interscholastic athletic league is evidently going to amount to more than a suggestion. Teachers and students in the different schools are one by one preparing to send delegates to the meeting of those interested in the movement. This meeting is to be held in the Sayre High school on Wednesday, Nov. 10.

WHY THEY COME TO THE POSTOFFICE.

Foreign Laborers Are Rainy Day Business Men.

Though it has come to seem that about the only time a foreign laborer, of the class called in a general way "Italians," attract attention is when they figure in police court trials, yet there is another time when they claim attention of a more creditable sort. Just as sure as a rainy day arrives, the local postoffice fairly swarms with the foreigners, who come to this country not only from Italian provinces, but from Poland, Hungary, Austria, and other climes, to earn a living.

And the peculiar part is that they are, in many cases, earning a living, not only for themselves, but, out of their meagre wages, are supporting families in the "old country." That is what brings them to the postoffice, and it is shown by government reports that the money order departments of offices patronized by the foreigners do a larger business in the way of transferring money than other and larger offices which have not an "Italian colony" in the neighborhood. The laborers take the rainy days to attend to their business matters, and despite the handicap of a limited vocabulary, those who deal with them say they are good business men, in their way. On the rainy days, the construction work, on which this class of labor is employed, has to cease, and then into town by the hundred, flock the foreigners, and to the postoffice first of all, where many of them have rented boxes, and where nearly all purchase money orders to send to New York, or even direct to the loved ones left across the sea.

While it is sometimes slightly annoying to be bustled by the burly forms of these hardy sons of toil, when you go into the postoffice, it is good to stop and remember that these ignorant fellows are there to take care of wives and children at home, and when you have looked at it in this light for a moment you will find that you begin to have, in some slight measure, that "fellow feeling which makes us wondrous kind."

LABORER KILLED.

While at Work at Greenwood, Near Steam Shovel on P., B. and E.

George C. Eglio, a foreign laborer on the P., B. and E. construction work met his death in the Greenwood cut Saturday morning last, being struck by the crane of a steam shovel, when a chain slipped and allowed the heavy implement to y around swiftly.

The victim of the fatal accident was 30 years old, and had been among the first men employed on the job. Murphy & Campbell of Towanda, took charge of the body and prepared it for burial, at the request of the railroad officials, who were in town Saturday.

"Pete" Allen Fixed Up.

The Park restaurant of which Peter Allen is the genial proprietor, has been undergoing a thorough overhauling during the last few days. Painted from end to end, with new and improved cooking apparatus, "Pete's" place is now one of the best of its kind.

R. F. D. Winter Schedule.

Beginning on Thursday, Nov. 1, the rural free delivery carriers began to operaate on the Winter schedule; all carriers of routes leaving the Towanda post office will until further notice leave the postoffice at 8 o'clock each morning of delivery.

Atwood—Cobb.

On Saturday, Oct. 27, at Nichols, N. Y., Verne J. Atwood and Miss Maysie G. Cobb were united in marriage by Rev. C. L. Lewis, pastor of the M. E. church. The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond W. Cobb of Stevensville, and is one of the charming young ladies of this section, while the groom is a son of E. J. Atwood of Pike township. Mr. and Mrs. Atwood have a large circle of friends who extend to them their best wishes and congratulations.—LeRaysville Times.

CUT-OFF FOR LEHIGH VALLEY.

Projected Between White Haven and Sandy Run Junction.

Arrangements for the construction of a spur of railroad between White Haven and Sandy Run Junction are now being made, which will give the Lehigh Valley a more direct main line conection for its middle and lower coal field traffic. This is a very important movement, doing away with the heavy grades on the Weatherly branch and saving about a 40-mile haul of coal consigned to the Buffalo and Western markets.

A traffic agreement existing between the Lehigh Valley and Jersey Central, whereby passengers trains were run from Hazleton to Wilkes-Barre, was annulled five years ago owing to the companies being unable to agree an base rate. The new spur will restore these trains, all of which will run through Freeland, giving that town a main line connection.

Pretty Electioneers Entertained.

The force of clerks recruited from among Towanda's handsome young women, who have been employed for the last several weeks in the Democratic County committee's "literary bureau," were entertained Friday evening by George W. Kipp, candidate for congress, at his home. Mr. Kipp presided as host at an enjoyable dinner party, the guests numbering about 20. It is understood that not all of the pretty girls in Towanda were present, however, as several of them were, at the same hour, busily engaged in Congressman Lilley's offices, looking after the interests of the Republican party in this district.

OUR POISONOUS SNAKES.

The Symptoms That Come From the Venom of Their Bites.

Notwithstanding the fact that there are many poisonous snakes in this country, cases of snake bite are not common. They occur frequently enough, however, to make it worth every farmer's or country roamer's while to familiarize himself with the poisonous effects upon the body of snake venom and the best means to overcome those effects.

The most common of the poisonous snakes in this country are the coral snakes, the copperhead, the water moccasin and many varieties of rattlesnakes. The symptoms of poisoning vary somewhat according to the variety of snake and also to the state of the weather and the condition which the snake is in at the time. The poisonous effects are more marked the hotter the weather at the time, and the bite of a well fed snake is more harmful than that of one which is fasting.

The symptoms of snake bite are both local and general. In the case of rattlesnake bite the local symptoms consist in severe pain and very great discoloration about the wound, due to the suffusion of blood under the skin. The part becomes greatly swollen and may even mortify.

The general symptoms come on quite rapidly. Sometimes within ten or twenty minutes of the bite there is a rapid and weak pulse, the victim is nauseated, often vomits, staggers as he walks and suffers from marked and increasing prostration. Death may occur directly from the action of the venom or it may follow later and be due to prostration resulting from the gangrene occurring at the site of the bite.

Recovery, which occurs in about three-quarters of the cases of rattlesnake poisoning, even when untreated, is very prompt, the symptoms of depression disappearing as rapidly as they came on.

When one has been bitten by a poisonous snake, the first thing to do is to prevent the entrance of the poison into the general circulation, which is to be done by tying a cord or a strip of cloth as tightly as possible about the limb above the bite. Then the part bitten should be cut freely with a sharp knife, with two or three cross cuts, so that it will bleed freely.

Sucking the wound is good for the victim, but dangerous for the person who does it, for the poison may be absorbed through any small abrasion near the mouth.

The elimination of the poison that may have been absorbed should be promoted by the use of purgatives and wrapping the victim in blankets, with hot bottles to promote perspiration. Alcohol is of service in moderate quantities, but it should never be taken in amount sufficient to produce intoxication.—Youth's Companion.

TRAINING DOG POLICE.

Breaking In of the Seine Patrol One of the Sights of Paris.

The training of the young Newfoundlands that are periodically added to the staff is one of the sights of Paris. It takes place in the headquarters of the agents plongeurs, a small building on the quayside not far from the Cathedral of Notre Dame. Dogs and men enter into the exercise with zest, and there is usually a crowd of onlookers. Only dummy figures are used, but the "rescue" is nevertheless a very realistic affair. The big dogs know perfectly well what the exercise means, and they wait with comic enthusiasm until the dummy is thrown into the water and an agent plongeur rushes out on hearing the splash and the outcry of spectators. While the men are busy with lines and life buoys the dog plunges into the water, swims to the dummy, watches with rare intelligence for an opportunity to get an advantageous hold, and then it either swims ashore or waits for its master, who brings to the rescue long poles, cork belts and the like. The more experienced dogs, however, will easily effect a rescue from first to last without human assistance, and it is an inspiring sight to watch them looking for a foothold on the slippery sides of the river bank and pulling the heavy dummy into a place of safety.

It takes about four months to train the dogs efficiently. They are also charged with the protection of their masters when attacked by the desperate ruffians who sleep under the arches of the bridge in summer. Thus in Paris the police dogs are a proved success.—Century.

The City of Great Britain.

Unless we command the sea we cannot keep open the roads by which our people are fed. Britain has in effect ceased to be a country. She is now, considered from the political and military point of view, a city, though a city with very large parks and pleasaunces and kitchen gardens in which to grow her flowers, fruits and vegetables. A city, from the point of view of war, may be described as a place which if besieged long enough must fall, since supplies once consumed cannot be replenished. Britain answers to this description. The moment the sea roads to her are closed by an enemy she is, ipso facto, in a state of siege. Face to face with a need so imminent, it would be madness for us to give any consideration to what we hope or believe are the intentions of this or that foreign power. All that we can rightly do in considering how to secure our national safety and independence is to count ships and guns and to compute the units of naval efficiency.—London Spectator.

Chauffeur Convicted of Manslaughter.

Philadelphia, Nov. 1.—Frank LeFleur, a chauffeur, whose automobile ran down and killed a pedestrian on Old York road, was convicted of manslaughter in the criminal court here. The jury recommended LeFleur to the mercy of the court. He will be sentenced later.

PROBLEMS OF SPACE

ENIGMAS THAT SCIENCE IS STRIVING TO SOLVE.

The Question of an Infinity of Worlds and Their Distribution In an Infinity of Space—Distance of the Nearest External Universe.

There can be no subject more calculated to impress a man's mind with his own insignificance compared with the overwhelming power and glory of his Creator than the study and contemplation of the firmament in all its boundless infinity. It is not to be wondered at that from the earliest ages the subject has never failed to exercise a fascination over men and that those who by their genius and learning have most nearly succeeded in solving its mysteries have always been reverenced and esteemed to be among the wisest men of their day. More has been done within the last fifty years than in all the rest of the world's history toward the piercing of the veil which shuts off from our eyes the beauties and mysteries of faroff realms, and doubtless by means of the spectroscope and increased size in the lenses of our telescopes we shall be enabled before long to unravel still more secrets of the universe.

The question as to whether space is finite or infinite can never be satisfactorily argued out or indeed even thought of, for the human mind is incapable of grasping the existence of a limit to space, even in its most abstract form, but the question of the infinity of worlds and their distribution in the infinity of space lies more closely within the scope of human intellect, for we have many material facts and calculations to go upon in discovering the probable answer to this most fascinating question.

Only as far back as the seventeenth century astronomers placed the number of stars in the universe as a little over 1,000, but this was absurd, as the real number visible to the naked eye is about 7,000, and perhaps treble that number can be seen by persons with exceptionally good eyesight. When the heavens, however, are examined through a telescope the number of visible stars is enormously increased. In fact, it has been calculated that the most powerful reveals as many as 100,000,000! Yet what is that vast number compared with infinity? It cannot even be likened to a grain of sand on the seashore, and yet if we think the matter out carefully we shall see that the number of visible stars cannot really be infinite, for if they were the heavens would be a complete blaze of light. This, of course, we know is far from being the case, and indeed there cannot be any doubt that in certain parts of the heavens at least the number of visible stars is already known, for even with the very strongest telescopes there are blank spaces which are absolutely devoid of stars below a certain magnitude or even the veriest trace of nebulous light.

These spaces are known to astronomers by the name of "coal sacks." They contain no stars fainter than the twelfth magnitude and, in fact, appear to mark those parts of the universe which are comparatively thin. On the other hand, in other parts of the heavens we have not by any means reached the limit of telescopic resolvability. It is curious, though, that these intensely dark "holes" in the bright empyrean are mostly to be found in those parts of the heavens where most stars abound, notably in the Milky Way.

These remarkable blank spots have been a favorite theme of discussion and argument among all astronomers, for, whatever the real shape or distribution of that universe may be, they point to the almost certain inference that in a particular direction at least there is an actual limit to the number of stars, and if there is a limit in one direction we have every right to suppose that such is the case in others, and that we have only to wait for telescopes strong enough to resolve those parts which are still unresolvable to discover that a point can be reached when all the stars of the universe are unfolded to our gaze.

If, now, we admit that the number of visible stars is limited, the next question to be asked is, What is the order or shape of their distribution? Various astronomers have had various theories about this matter. Herschel was inclined to think that the visible universe was in the shape of a disk, though his views in this direction were considerably modified during the later part of his life. Struve considered that the universe was in the shape of a disk of limited thickness, but infinite length, a theory which is hard to support, as, unless the ultimate extinction of light in space is believed in, that part of the heavens which lay toward the plane of the disk would necessarily shine with the brightness of the sun. Proctor, though finding it impossible to define any particular shape for the visible universe, as a whole, was of the opinion that the brightest part of it—namely, the Milky Way—was in the form of a spiral. This latter theory, however, has many objections to contend with. Other astronomers have had different theories on this question, but all, or nearly all, appear to admit an ultimate limit to the size of the visible universe, or, in other words, believe that the galaxy of worlds which surround us form, in fact, but an islet in the vast infinity of space.

It would appear at first sight that any attempt to solve the question of the existence of external galaxies and their distance was absolutely futile, yet such is not the case. The result of calculation is that the nearest external universe is so far distant that light from it traveling at the speed of 186,000 miles a second would take nearly 20,000,000 years to reach us!—Chambers' Journal.

WINGLESS BIRDS.

Some Animal Oddities That Are Found In New Zealand.

An official of the Smithsonian institution was recently speaking of some of the wingless birds of New Zealand. "Those wingless birds have always been of especial interest to me," he said. "Nowhere else than in their native land could they have survived, for that is the only land in which no destructive animals are to be found. Being unable to fly, they could not have escaped from swift hunting animals, if any there had been. And in this connection it is interesting to note that in all probability the kakapo, or great ground parrot, once had the use of its wings, but, being a grass seed feeder and finding no enemies on the ground, it in a process of evolution lost its ability to fly, though able to run very swiftly. These birds are so gentle and so unconscious of having any enemies that if a person sit down near one it will presently tuck its head under its wing and go to sleep. They only breed once in two years, and the mother bird carefully hides the nest from her mate, though why is not known.

"The weka, or wood hen, is another specially interesting species of the wingless birds. These birds mate for life and take turn about in hatching and watching the brood. One of the pair is never absent from the nest, the one on duty being supplied with food by the other. There is something almost human in the sight of a male weka leading his family out for a stroll on the beach when the tide is low.

"Another is the roa, which is distinguished by a remarkable beak, long, slender and slightly curved. The roa, like the kakapo, is a night bird, and its chief food is earthworms. Its sight is very poor, and it may often be seen standing in the moonlight with the tip of its beak resting upon the ground, apparently listening or feeling for the vibrations of a worm's movements. The male of the roa does all the hatching, and the young birds come from the shell with all their feathers, miniatures of their parents and with apparently all their intelligence, as they at once start out to search for food and seem to require no instruction as to the best places to find it."—New York Herald.

RECORDS.

In the number of his titles the Duke of Atholl, with twenty-three, holds the record.

The record bean for costliness is the vanilla, which sells at $12 a pound retail.

The record for ham sandwich making is a thousand sandwiches in 11 hours 25 minutes.

The record lodging house is one for pilgrims at Mecca, which accommodates 6,000 persons.

The record steam heating apparatus cost $180,000. It is that which heats the 11,000 rooms of the Vatican.

The record soprano voice was Lucrezia Agujardi's. This lady, who died in 1783, could easily strike C in altissimo.

The record for millionaire honesty was held by the late Charles T. Yerkes, who, on recovering his fortune after his failure, repaid the claims of all his old creditors with 6 per cent compound interest.

Mr. Howells and the Poet.

A person called upon a certain editor of the Atlantic Monthly of the name of William Dean Howells and, producing a poem and courteous note of declination, indignantly demanded an explanation.

"Do you mean to intimate that this is not a good poem?" he challenged.

"By no means," hastily remonstrated Mr. Howells; "I think it is very good indeed."

"Then why"—in a somewhat mollified tone—"do you decline it? I consider it the best I have ever written."

"Ah, well," said Mr. Howells, "after all, we have very few differences of opinion. Do you know," he added in his gentlest voice, "I have long regarded it as the best that Tennyson has ever written." — George Harvey in North American Review.

Anchoring a Lightship.

A very effective method is employed to keep a lightship always in practically the same position. The ship is moored by three anchors which rest in the sea bed in the form of a triangle. When the tide alters its direction the vessel, of course, swings with it, but only to a limited extent. The ship cannot change right over, as it would if only one anchor were used, for the three anchors each fix it in a different position and do not allow it to move more than a few yards.

The Milky Way.

The milky way in the heavens is composed of myriads of fixed stars, but it is not true that they have any influence that anybody knows of on the direction of the wind or other element of the weather of the earth. Their apparent changes of position are due only to the changes of position by the earth in its daily and annual revolutions. The stars in the milky way are so far from the earth that it takes thousands of years for the light from them to reach us.

THE TELEGRAPH.

Opposition and Rebuffs With Which Morse Had to Contend.

The Morse telegraph invention lingered for years in the hands of its starving inventor because capitalists were indifferent or incapable of appreciating its merits.

It was several years before congress voted an appropriation to allow its inventor to make a practical test of it, and burlesque bills were offered to provide means for communicating with the man in the moon.

"He's a very good, but shiftless painter, if he would only stick to his job," some one said of Morse. "The idea of telling by a little streak of lightning what a body is saying at the other end of a wire!"

His instrument, it was said, was all very well as a mantel ornament or for a mistress to call her maid, but the wires couldn't cross rivers, oceans and deserts.

Even after the line was up between Washington and Baltimore and Silas Wright sent a dispatch to the Democratic convention at Baltimore declining its nomination of him to the vice presidency, it was not accepted as true until a committee went to Washington and returned with the confirmation of the report.

There was similar though less objection offered to the overland telegraph. Senator Benton declared that it would be impossible to operate it, because the Digger Indians would cut the wires to make hooks for digging up the roots and beetles on which they lived.—Sunday Magazine.

BULLIOT'S BET.

A Banker's Wager on St. Swithin's Day Rain Legend.

There were few frenzied financiers in England at the beginning of the eighteenth century if the banker Bulliot, of whom the following story is told, can be taken as an example: The feast of St. Swithin, July 15, 1725, was a particularly wet and stormy day.

Trusting implicitly in the old superstition, which says that if it rains on St. Swithin's day it will rain for forty days thereafter, Bulliot opened a pool for every one who was willing to bet against him. The affair attained so much notoriety that the wager was reduced to writing.

"If dating from St. Swithin's day," reads the memorandum, "it rains more or little during forty days successively Bulliot will be considered to have gained, but if it cease to rain for only one day during that time Bulliot has lost."

For two weeks it contained to shower every day, and so confident did the banker become that he accepted as stakes not only money, but gold headed canes, jewels, snuffboxes and even clothes. When his cash gave out he offered notes and bills of exchange. Another week passed, and Bulliot's star was still in the ascendant.

But when the twenty-second day sank into the west bright and cloudless the unfortunate banker was ruined.

A Good Reply.

During the Apache war in Arizona in 1866 a Maricopa Indian rode a hundred miles between sun and sun to warn a party of well to do emigrants that the Apaches had planned to ambuscade them at a certain pass. The young Indian volunteered to guide the wagons by another route, and when he had done this he mounted his horse to go home.

"See here," said the leader of the train to the young Maricopa, "you have done us a good service. What is your price?"

"My price?" repeated the astonished Indian.

"That is what I asked."

"I have no price. Had gain been my object I would have joined the Apaches and met you in the pass." And so saying the brave wheeled his horse and rode proudly away.

The Best Beloved.

William Stitt, beadle at Durrisdeer, in Nithsdale, Scotland, was a man of about six feet two inches in height, with broad, heavy shoulders. There had been a succession of ministers during his official career, says a writer in Blackwood's Magazine, among them the Rev. D. Morrison, who was subsequently translated to the Tron church, Edinburgh, a minister of decidedly larger build that his predecessors. One of the farmers in the parish said to the beadle one day:

"Will, you have served under a good many ministers. Which of them all did you like best?"

"Morrison's clo'es fitted me best!" Will replied curtly.

Chinese Pirates.

Piracy is no new thing in the waters around Hongkong. As long ago as the thirteenth century the island of Hongkong was a piratical stronghold, and for centuries the Chinese government was unable to drive the sea robbers out. All craft passing what is now Hongkong harbor were compelled to pay tribute. The higher elevations of the island served as lookout stations, and no boat that approached was permitted to leave until it had paid toll.

Life on the Farm.

Real life on the farm means corn in abundance, hogs a-plenty, cows enough to keep every vessel on the place overflowing with milk, horses for every member of the family, chickens, turkeys, geese, ducks, fruit in season and out of season, babies and good cheer all the year round.—Houston (Tex.) Post.

Very Simple.

"Miss Short says she's thirty, but I'm sure she is thirty-six, every year of it."

"Well, you see, she was six before she learned to count."

The Early Bird.

Mrs. Homebody (engaging cook)—Very well, then; you may come tomorrow at 10. Cook—Oi'd sooner come at 8, mum. Thin if Oi don't loike th' place Oi can lave in toime for th' matinee.—Puck.

WELLS.

A son was born last week Monday to Mr. and Mrs. Ray Congdon.

Miss Olive Wolf, daughter of ex-County Commissioner John Wolf, is visiting relatives and friends at Rochester.

A fine dwelling house on the farm of Ed Joraleman, occupied by Charles Hamilton of this place, was entirely deseroyed by fire last Wednesday forenoon. Mr. and Mrs. Hamilton were both at the barn putting up their stock from the fierce storm that was raging about then, leaving a very small fire in the kitchen stove and the fire is supposed to have originated from the stove or chimney. The building was all on fire when seen by Mr. Hamilton and only a very few articles could be got out. W. H. Wilson across the fields saw the fire and gave the general ring on the telephone line and over 50 men gathered there in a very short time and helped save outside buildings and the like. About all the furniture was burned together with their Winter supply of vegetables, fruit, butter, and other things in the cellar. Also some money in the house was burned. Mr. Hamilton saved only the clothes he wore. All the goods saved could be loaded with ease and safety into a buggy. No insurance on the household goods. Mr. Joraleman had an insurance of about $700 on the house.

New sheds are being erected at the Presbyterian church at Coryland.

Addison Hill, a prominent citizen, died quite suddenly Wednesday, aged 73 years. Mr. Hill had a paralytic stroke some time ago from which he had partially recovered. Not feeling well last Wednesday, Dr. M. E. Seafuse was called, and it was while watching him depart on his motorcycle with a remark upon its speed and the smash that would follow were he to collide with any obstacle, that he complained of feeling dizzy, fell to the floor and expired. Three sons and two daughters survive him.

Edward Horton and family spent Saturday at the county seat.

Popcorn and nuts shorten and cheer many a long winter evening for the children. If you buy your popcorn it is well to sample it before getting a lot on hand.

A German farmer of whom we read the other day follows the old country practice of plowing twice in the fall and claims that he is repaid with an increased yield of five bushels per acre as a result of his pains.

Open grates please the aesthetic eye and are certainly very cheerful with their bright flickers and snapping sparks at this time of year, although they are not much on heat. The fireplace is still used quite extensively in England for heating purposes.

You have been too busy all summer to think or care about your reading matter for the coming year, but as the evenings lengthen and the rush is over you have more time to yourself. No nicer Christmas gift can be given than a good paper or magazine.

It is not best to stir up the soil on the slopes and hillsides in the fall, as the loosened soil is more readily washed away by the melting snows and the rains. However, whenever it is possible it is advisable to do as much toward lightening the spring work as possible.

The agricultural departments are ever testing our different soils and climate by introducing new fruits, vegetables and fodder plants. The results in most cases are most satisfactory, and we are thus enabled to utilize conditions which otherwise would bring us naught. Many of these plants come from tropical or semitropical climes.

The value of farm lands for the year 1905 was reported as nearly $23,000,000,000, an increase over 1900 of something over $6,000,000,000, the increase alone being equal to nearly half the combined capital of our railroads. This all goes to show that the gross earnings of the farm go to form one of the largest items in our national income.

Dispose of your cream during the cold weather while it is fresh as well as sweet. Because the cream keeps sweet longer we are apt to think it does not need the same careful attention, but that is a mistake. Separator cream keeps sweet much longer than that which is skimmed from the can, but if not carefully covered gets strong and bitter.

It is the easiest thing in the world to find objectionable features in connection with one's occupation and environment. No matter how nice a line of work one may be engaged in or how richly the country may be endowed, it has its drawbacks. It may be selfish, but it is a good thing once in awhile to think how much better off you are than the other fellow.

If any of our readers are planning to have an early hotbed it is a good idea to put a supply of rich black dirt in the cellar or some other place out of the way of the frost, so that it will be ready for use early next spring. While the weather sometimes permits the getting of a supply out of doors sufficiently early, yet many times it is not so, and an exasperating delay is the result.

Cats, like some people, sometimes outlive their usefulness and become all around nuisances. They run in bad company and quarrel and fight and have not the least spark of ambition or enterprise about them. If they would stop there it wouldn't be so bad, but they take especial delight in destroying the nests and killing the very birds which are the most useful to the farmer. They are not half as eager for the English sparrow.

Experiments carried on by the government show that when meat is cooked in water it loses from 10 to 50 per cent in weight and when roasted from 13 to 37 per cent. When boiled the meat loses practically all of its organic extractives, which constitute or form the basis of its flavor as well as a very large per cent of its nutritive value. But when roasted it retains practically all of its flavor and most of its nutritive value. The latter method of cooking would therefore seem to have much to commend it.

A method that has been found effective in checking damage done by the strawberry leaf roller, a pest that is proving a serious one in many of the strawberry districts, consists in mowing the vines closely as soon as the last of the fruit has been harvested, allowing them to dry for two or three days and then scattering sufficient straw over the bed, so that with the dry vines the bed can be burned over clean. This treatment destroys all eggs and insects and does not damage the bed, as one might be led to think.

Several of the rural carriers of Waukomis, Okla., have provided themselves with autos in which to deliver mail to their scattered patrons. It is not often that the west sets the pace in style, but the instance cited seems to be one.

No vegetable which the writer's garden has produced the past season was more highly prized than the bush lima beans shelled while green, cooked until tender and served with a generous dressing of thick cream. So prepared, they are a dish for an epicure.

While the western inland markets furnish meats, vegetables, milk and some other food products at a considerably lower price than prevails in eastern markets, yet the latter have a distinct advantage when it comes to all varieties of salt water fish, oysters, shrimps, clams, etc.

Meats put up in brine seem to be most satisfactory for the farm home use. They are more easily handled in this way, as the needed material is right at hand. The fact that you can go to your own pork barrel and fish out a piece of clean, unadulterated salt pork for beans is a great satisfaction.

Much loss from insect damage and the depredations of rats and mice is realized by the careless storing of grain in insecure temporary quarters until it can be disposed of at a good price. It does not pay to do this unless you have means to take care of it, as the loss is greater than it would be to sell at first price.

There are too many homes in which there is not as great a measure of precaution exercised in the matter of the associates whom the daughter in the home is allowed to have as there is in the company which is insisted on for the thoroughbred stock on the farm. This is all wrong and a matter which in all right, justice and purity should be remedied.

A number of telephone lines are conferring a practical favor on their rural patrons by sending out at a certain hour of the day weather forecasts furnished by the nearest federal station for the ensuing twenty-four hours. The instances are numerous where the information so furnished is made practical use of in the line of planning the work of the farm.

While lightning rods properly made and put up, with wires properly grounded, doubtless do serve as a protection from damage by lightning to the buildings on which they are erected, yet the inefficiency of the average lightning rod is quite conclusively shown from the fact that insurance companies do not make a reduction in rates on buildings which are so equipped.

Some of the abandoned coal mines in eastern states are being turned into underground gardens. In these gardens mushrooms, lettuce and celery are raised for market. Acetylene gas is used as a substitute for the sunlight and is kept burning day and night in order to sooner bring the plants to maturity. This way of gardening is said to be successful, though it is still in the experimental stage.

Instead of burning cotton seed to get rid of it, a practice that was followed in years gone by in some portions of the south, last year 4,500,000 tons of the cotton seed were bought from southern planters, for which the sum of $75,000,000 was paid. The bulk of this seed was bought by the cottonseed oil industry, while a much less amount is used in the manufacture of a meal which is used for fertilizer.

The people of the United States spend $1,500,000,000 annually for the meat they consume, or about one-third of the whole amount expended for raw food materials. In view of this fact it would seem that a good deal more time and attention might with profit be devoted by people in general to a somewhat thorough study of the subject with a view to determining what meats are the most nutritious, the most economical, and to ascertaining those methods of cooking which will give the consumer the largest possible per cent of the nutritive value of the meats which he buys.

Constitutional tiredness with some folks is just a charitable designation of nothing but inborn and cultivated laziness, while with many others it is the result of a run down condition of body and nerves and can only be remedied by thorough rest, sleep and recuperation. This is the situation with many housewives whom incessant household cares and responsibilities never permit to have the rest they need, with the result that body and mind finally give out and an untimely death overtakes them, when thorough rest and sleep at critical times would have enabled them to enjoy added happy and useful years of life.

The legend "Pure Maple Sirup," which has been employed in the past to cover a multitude of deceptions in the shape of treacle, glucose and corncob concoctions, will be hereafter used a deal more sparingly as a result of the passage of the federal pure food law. From now on nothing but the pure stuff will bear the above label, which will very likely fetch a much higher price than the hybrid articles which in the past have been masquerading under false colors, while the bogus articles will sell at a much lower figure than heretofore. All kinds of euphonious names will likely be employed to break the force of the fact that a given sirup has not been near a sugar bush, while only those sirups which have a clear title will bear the pure food label "Pure Maple Sirup."

GOOD TIMES AND PANICS.

A word of caution may be in place at this time, when a veritable stream of golden wealth is pouring into the laps of millions of husbandmen in return for an unprecedented yield of almost all kinds of farm and garden products, and there is as a result a justifiable desire to put the money thus made where it will do the most good. The present year without question marks the flood tide of prosperity for our country, and there are none here ever high or low in the economic scale, but have shared and will share in its blessings. The question of most intense and vital importance just now is that having to do with the investment of the vast aggregate earnings of the tiller of the soil and the wage earner, for in this more than in any other factor is bound up a perpetuation of the present good times. The very conditions accompanying an era of prosperity contain all the germs necessary to beget financial distrust, panic and ensuing hard times, and it is for this reason wise to take stock of the situation, as it were, with a view to preventing a development of the symptoms which all are wont to view with alarm. Good times mean abundant money and low interest rates. Money that is easily got (earned or borrowed) is all too often carelessly invested. By and by the day of reckoning comes, the promises of wildcat promoters and speculators do not materialize and money that was counted on with easy confidence is not forthcoming in the shape of either principal or interest to meet legitimate obligations. The stuff's off and the panic is on, and the great organism of finance and business is seized with a congestive chill that reaches to its farthest extremities. This in a nutshell is the story of the destruction of business faith and confidence and the coming of the panic. The only possible way of averting the cataclysm is for each investor, large or small, to exercise the most painstaking care that the money he invests is put where it will fetch not so much a large as a sure return and in such hands that it can be got back when need arises. If you have surplus money as a result of your own industry and the fertility of the soil, first pay your debts and next put aside an amount sufficient to finance the inevitable rainy day of poor crops or sickness. If you have any left when this is done invest it as near home as possible and only on the recommendation of the most conscientious banker of your acquaintance. Only so can good times be perpetuated and one's financial craft be stanch enough to withstand a possible squall.

A LOCUST GROVE.

An Indiana reader of these notes writes inquiring as to the better method to get a grove of black locust trees started—whether to plant the seeds in the field where he wants the trees to grow or to plant them in rows rather thick and later transplant. Assuming that this variety of tree is sufficiently hardy to stand the winter in our correspondent's locality, which it is not for the territory in which the writer lives, we would say that the latter method would be preferable, in that it enables one to select his trees with reference to size and thriftiness at planting time, resulting in a grove of much more uniform size than could be secured by planting the seeds where it is intended the trees should stand. This practice of transplanting is generally followed in nurseries, and experience has proved it to be most satisfactory.

NEW USES FOR CEMENT.

The increasing price of even the coarsest and poorest grades of lumber is resulting in the use of cement for a great variety of purposes. One of these is in the construction of water tanks. The difficulty that would naturally be encountered in likelihood of bursting of the tank by the freezing of the water is obviated by making the cement tank with sloping sides and an angular bottom like the ordinary hog trough. It is found that when water freezes in such a tank the ice formed gets practically no leverage, it being forced up rather than forcing the sides of the tank out and cracking them. In spite of the many new uses to which concrete is being put it is safe to say that the cement business is still in its infancy, there being an enormous development still awaiting it.

FIX THE CHIMNEY.

The careful householder, whether living in town or country, will make a thorough inspection of the flues and chimneys of the house before stoves and furnaces are started full blast for the winter months. The doing of this now and making necessary repairs in the way of entirely new chimneys or a cementing of old ones will prevent the family's being routed out of warm beds by an alarm of fire some night during the next few months when the thermometer is 15 below zero. A serious feature of fires originating in the above manner is that they are as a rule in inaccessible places and get under good headway before they are discovered and water can be got on them. Fix chimneys and save a burn out.

FEEDING TREES.

Some experiments recently conducted at the North Dakota experiment station have had for their object the feeding of poorly nourished young trees which when supplied with a bottle filled at frequent intervals appeared to suck in sustenance at a rapid rate. To such an extent was this true that it was found possible to regulate to some extent the growth of young trees by such means, retarding their development or making it more rapid, as might be desired. It seemed to be largely a matter of food supply, the tree under treatment showing a willingness to absorb extra sustenance and to utilize it in the building of plant tissues.

Salton Sea Doomed.

San Francisco, Nov. 1.—The Salton sea is doomed. The officials of the Southern Pacific announce that the last steps have been taken and the Colorado river will be turned into its old course and no more water will flow into the great inland sea. The break in the bank of the Colorado river has been filled in with piles and stone, and the last gap is being closed.

Pennsylvania Increases Dividend.

Philadelphia, Nov. 1.—The board of directors of the Pennsylvania railroad declared a semiannual dividend of 3½ per cent. This is an increase of one-half of 1 per cent and places the stock on a 7 per cent basis.

The birthday of the Order of Patrons of Husbandry occurs Dec. 4. Every grange should observe this anniversary of the order. Do not forget its history nor the reasons for its organization.

Last year prizes were awarded in Tioga county by the Pomona Zoological committee for the best product of the vegetable and floral world grown from seed given for this purpose by seedmen. A contest of this kind or something similar might be productive of much good in Pomona district No. 23. We trust that some of our progressive brothers and sisters will send us their best thoughts along this line and thus help to enliven as well as make profitable some unsuccessful time. During the present time of the year we should plan for next Summer's work.

During the past few years nearly all of the timber land has been stripped of the timber that remained standing eight or ten years ago. The price of timber has more than doubled and the farmers are now sorely puzzled about how to procure material for repairing their wooden buildings. Every member of our order ought to preserve a piece of wood land if he has it, if not he should plant trees of such kinds as will grow quickly and soon be ready for convenient use. He might also plant some of a slower growth that would make stronger and more durable building material. This question is becoming of too much importance to be left unnoticed. Lumber dealers are stripping the timber as rapidly as they can. Every farmer should take pride in replacing as many trees as his circumstances will permit. He will have a hard battle to fight if he wins over the lumberman and the insect pests, but duty to himself and family calls for an active effort. Plant more trees not only for yourself but for the good of all. Health, wealth and convenience make it necessary.

The members of Iona grange are working early and late to complete the conveniences of their new hall so that everything shall be in readiness for the session of Pomona grange to be held there the last of this month. We trust that complete success may attend every effort.

The close of the year is near at hand and now it will be right for each patron to ask himself, "What have I done to advance the interests of the grange?" It may then be well to write the answer and preserve it for future reference. If it so happens that you cannot think of anything you have done to give strength and influence to the grange, make the record and then improve upon it during the next year at least. This act may make one of the brightest and most cheerful points in your life. Do not fail to try it.

The secretary of the National grange reports the number of granges organized during the past year as 249, and 66 reorganized. Of these 38 were organized in Pennsylvania and 17 reorganized. So Pennsylvania takes the lead in grange growth. The National secretary says: "The Patrons of Pensylvania have become satisfied that the organization to be useful to them must be active and progressive. They have had the courage to go forward along progressive lines and the figures show how ready the hitherto unorganized farmers have been to appreciate the advanced work of the order."

TESTED AND PROVEN.

There is a heap of Solace in Being Able to Depend Upon a Well-Earned Reputation.

For months Towanda readers have seen the constant expression of praise for Doan's Kidney Pills, and read about the good work they have done in this locality. Not another remedy ever produced such convincing proof of merit.

Mrs. S. S. Blodgett of East Towanda, near the bridge, says: "Doan's Kidney Pills are a remedy in whichh I have great confidence and I heartily re-endorse what I have before stated in our Towanda papers. In the Winter of 1896 I had pain in my back, so severe at times that I had to exercise great care in my movements. When the attacks were in the acute stages sleeping was simply out of the question and in the morning it was torture to get out of bed. I had to draw myself up the best I could without using my back, and dressing and moving about caused intense pain. During my suffering we heard of Doan's Kidney Pills and Mr. Blodgett got me a box at Dr. H. C. Porter & Son's drug store. I took them strictly according to directions. The result was all that anyone could wish for. The pain in my back left me very quickly and my general health was improved in every way. My husband has used them with equally good results as I. To say we re-endorse Doan's Kidney Pills mildly expresses what we think of them."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

A Lazy Liver

May be only a tired liver, or a starved liver. It would be a stupid as well as savage thing to beat a weary or starved man because he lagged in his work. So in treating the lagging, torpid liver it is a great mistake to lash it with strong drastic drugs. A torpid liver is but an indication of an ill-nourished, enfeebled body whose organs are weary with over work. Start with the stomach and allied organs of digestion and nutrition. Put them in working order and see how quickly your liver will become active. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery has made many marvelous cures of "liver trouble" by its wonderful control of the organs of digestion and nutrition. It restores the normal activity of the stomach, increases the secretions of the blood-making glands, cleanses the system from poisonous accumulations, and so relieves the liver of the burdens imposed upon it by the defection of other organs.

If you have bitter or bad taste in the morning, poor or variable appetite, coated tongue, foul breath, constipated or irregular bowels, feel weak, easily tired, despondent, frequent headaches, pain or distress in "small of back," gnawing or distressed feeling in stomach, perhaps nausea, "risings" or sour "risings" in throat after eating, and kindred symptoms of weak stomach and torpid liver, no medicine will relieve you more promptly or cure you more permanently than Doctor Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. Perhaps only a part of the above symptoms will be present at one time and yet point to torpid liver or biliousness and weak stomach. Avoid all hot bread and biscuits, griddle cakes and other indigestible food and take the "Golden Medical Discovery" regularly and stick to its use until you are vigorous and strong.

The "Discovery" is non-secret, non-alcoholic, is a glyceric extract of native medicinal roots with a full list of its ingredients printed on each bottle-wrapper and attested under oath. Its ingredients are endorsed and extolled by the most eminent medical writers of the age and are recommended to cure the diseases for which it is advised.

Don't accept a substitute of unknown composition for this non-secret MEDICINE OF KNOWN COMPOSITION.

NEW YORK FASHIONS

Patterns For Attractive Lingerie Designed by Martha Dean—Nos. 6728 and 6729.

The one piece corset covers are very much liked by women of fashion because there are so few seams, and yet the fit is excellent. Here is one intended for the wide embroidery, through which the ribbon may be run to regulate the fullness of the top. For home manufacture this is the simplest one to make and is very dainty withal. The petticoat is one of five gores finished in black with an inverted box plait or gathers. Two straight gathered flounces finish the bottom, and here is opportunity for some very pretty adornment. The flounces may be joined, with beading run with ribbon, with insertion or veining. Another construction is possible in the upper flounce—it may be tucked instead of gathered. For the corset cover the medium size calls for one and three-fourth yards of eighteen inch goods, and the skirt needs six and three-quarter yards of thirty-six inch material. Two patterns—No. 6728, sizes, 32, 36, 40 and 44 inches bust measure; No. 6729, sizes, 20 to 32 inches waist.

PLAYS PART OF TRAMP, OWNS A PLANTATION.

Clever Comedian Springs Strange Story While in Towanda.

Edward DeNoyer, of "My Wife's Family" company, which played here on Thursday night, caused a mild sensation among his fellow players, while in Towanda, by announcing that he had become heir to a vast fortune, which included a Georgia cotton plantation and an assortment of real estate in several Western cities. The amount of the fortune was stated at different time by DeNoyer to be $90,000, $200,000 and finally $240,000.

The actor, who really does possess merit in his line, modestly calls himself the champion buck and wing dancer of the world; by his performance as the principal comedian in the comedy with which he travels, he pleased a large audience here, none of whom knew of the story of DeNoyer's new found wealth, until after the show. The tale was then promptly branded by old theater-goers as a bit of press agent work, but in this instance this does not seem to be the case, as the comedian had a letter from the Whitneys releasing him from their troupe.

To a Review representative, after the show, DeNoyer talked in a vague way of his "fortune." He says that when he was three years old he was adopted by Mr. and Mrs. Charles Becker of Savannah, Ga., though his own parents were living at the time in St. Louis. Always fond of the stage, he ran away when he was nine years old and joined a troupe, and has been in the business ever since. He is now 26 years of age, he says, though he looks older. The Beckers were wealthy Southern plantation owners, and his father by adoption died last week. When the will was read, it was found that the entire estate had been left to DeNoyer, and a telegram to that effect reached him at Waverly on Wednesday night. At Towanda he received his release, in response to a telegram, and after playing at Wellsboro and Williamsport, the young comedian will give up his stage life, he avers, and go to assume his estate. When questioned about the strange story, other members of the company, including the manager and Mr. and Mrs. Mounts, smiled indulgently and said that Mr. DeNoyer had been receiving bequests ever since the season had begun, but they hoped to keep him for a while longer as he was a great drawing card.

An Appreciation.

John F. Coolbaugh, who died at the residence of his sister, Mrs. V. V. Vargason on South Main street last Saturday night, was a young man whose life and character deserve something more than a passing notice. It was some years ago that he became a Christian, but not until a year ago last July did he join the church. For two years I have known him intimately. They have been years of declining health, protracted suffering and failing earthly hopes. For the sake of his dear wife and sweet little girl he desired to live, and made a persistent and brave fight for health. While it was hard for him at first to be reconciled to the inevitable issue of his disease yet in humble resignation to the will of God he found great peace and in the end, triumph. His faith was intelligent and unwavering. During all his sufferings the utmost patience characterized him. No murmur escaped his lips. No unkind word marred his domestic life. He was high minded and courageous; a Christian gentleman, whose light shown more brightly as earthly hopes failed. He was amiable and companionable, and made my calls a pleasure and as profitable to me as they could have been to him. He will be held in everlasting remembrance by his unworthy pastor. O. A. HOUGHTON.

Accident at Allis Hollow.

Eliza, the six years old daughter of DeLa Allen, fell while at school on Thursday, spraining her ankle and tearing the ligaments. Dr. J. C. Lee attended her, putting it in a casing the same as a broken bone. It will probably be six weeks before she can attend her school again. She has the sympathy of all her many friends.

Griffin Bagged the Loon.

John Griffin, son of Sheriff Job Griffin, shot the big loon that tried to cruise through Towanda waters on Thursday. Several more ducks were seen during the afternoon along the river near the island opposite North Main street.

Help! Help! I'm Falling

Thus cried the hair. And a kind neighbor came to the rescue with a bottle of Ayer's Hair Vigor. The hair was saved! This was because Ayer's Hair Vigor is a regular hair medicine. Falling hair is caused by a germ, and this medicine completely destroys these germs. Then the healthy scalp gives rich, healthy hair.

HON. C. S. RUSSELL DEAD.

Honored Career of Good Citizen Brought to Peaceful Close.

Hon. Chauncey S. Russell died at his home on Third street Friday morning at 5 o'clock, after an illness that confined him to his bed for several weeks, and which followed a general breaking down of the system due to his advanced age.

In the death of Mr. Russell Towanda borough loses one of its best citizens. All his life he was a student, keeping abreast of the times and thoroughly informed on every topic of public interest. This led to his active interest in every movement toward public improvement and his participation in the work of the Historical society, Public library and kindred objects. Always in robust health, dignified and courteous, his was a striking and forceful personality that will be sadly missed.

Chauncey S. Russell was born in Windham township, this county, on May 13, 1824, the son of Julius and Eliza Seymour Russell, the family being of New England stock. Mr. Russell spent his boyhood days on his father's farm and was educated in the schools of that day. In 1842 his father was elected register and recorder of the county, and the young man, then in his eighteenth year, came to Towanda as deputy and clerk in the office. From that day Towanda was his home, and for 64 years he was one of this borough's most intelligent, progressive and capable citizens.

In 1845 he was appointed deputy prothonotary for a term of three years, and at the expiration of that time was for three years clerk to the county commissioners. In 1851 he embarked in business in the retail hardware trade with Delos C. Hall, retiring from the partnership in 1858 to take up the insurance business. Two years later, however, he formed a partnership with John A. Codding under the firm name of Codding & Russell, and engaged in the hardware business in the building now occupied by D. T. Evans. This partnership continued until 1876.

Mr. Russell was always an ardent Democrat, and no one locally was better informed or qualified to speak on politics than he. In 1853 he was nominated by his party for associate judge and elected, overcoming a Republican majority of large proportions. He was the last man to fill the office of associate judge in Bradford county. Since 1876 Mr. Russell devoted his energies entirely to the insurance business, and in that as in all else he undertook he rose to the top, becoming an adjuster for prominent companies and an authority upon insurance topics. For eight years he was burgess of Towanda borough, and filled other local offices.

Judge Russell was a thirty-second degree Mason, prominent in Odd Fellowship—being one of the very oldest members of that order. He was a prominent member and supporter of the Universalist faith.

On Sept. 20, 1853, he married Mary P. Spalding, a granddaughter of General Spalding of Revolutionary fame. She died in November, 1903. Their home life was ideal. While they were blessed with no children of their own, their home was the home for many years of children of Mrs. Russel's sister.

Funeral services were held at the home on Third street, at 2:30 o'clock on Sunday afternoon. The interment in Oak Hill cemetery was in charge of Union Lodge, No. 108, F. and A. M.

GAME WARDEN SHOT IN MOUNTAIN WOODS.

Officer Near Scranton Murdered for Doing Duty Sunday.

An unprovoked and cold-blooded murder occurred on the West mountain, back of Priceburg, near Scranton Sunday forenoon at 11:30 o'clock, when Michael Shelfesky deliberately aimed a large calibre revolver at Charles Beecham's head and shouting, "Let go of him or I'll shoot," pulled the trigger and drove a ball through his victim, causing instant death.

Peter Sheweltz, 19 years of age, and a companion of the murderer, is under arrest at the county jail. Thoroughly aroused men and officers are searching the valley and the mountains for the murderer, who made his escape and is heavily armed.

The dead man was one of a party of game wardens who went into the woods to prevent the practice of hunting on Sunday. Beecham and Jenkin Davis came upon Shelfesky and Sheweltz firing shots from their revolvers at anything which moved. The officers advanced to place them under arrest, after telling them who they were and what they were wanted for. Sheweltz was the nearer of the two and the men seized and disarmed him. The officers paid little attention to his companion for a minute and were making sure of their man when Shelfesky, who had retreated some distance, called: "Let go of him or I'll shoot." Beecham and Davis had no time to consider his proposition. The former raised his head at the call and partially turned to face the man when the murderer fired and he met the ball square. It penetrated his lung, taking a downward course, striking the sixth rib on the right side and lodging in the muscles of his back, and Beecham fell, scarcely without a move.

A posse is scouring the woods and expects to arrest the murderer.

LEHIGH'S BRIDGE GIRDERS WILL BE IMMENSE.

130 Feet Long, and Weigh as Much as Some Locomotives.

From the Pheonixville plant of the American Bridge company there have come several expert bridge builders to look over the ground and make preparatory plans for the construction of the immense bridge which is to span the Susquehanna from the new North Towanda station to the East side, where it will meet the great "fill" being made along the river bed. In the construction of this bridge, the Lehigh Valley will use and has ordered the heaviest and most modern material.

This will include more than a dozen girders which will weigh 60 tons each, and which will measure 130 feet. This is said to be the longest bridge girder made, it being seldom that a length of more than 80 feet is required. To handle these immense pieces of steel, cranes and travelers weighing hundreds of ton must be put in place, the piers made by Mutchler & Sons must be given attention by the bridge men, and a large amount of preliminary work done before the actual work of swinging the girders shall commence.

J. F. Smith, a member of the Pheonixville plant's force came to Towanda last week, and is now endeavoring to find competent bridge men to add to his force. The work is skilled labor, and for men who have any sort of knowledge of bridge construction work, employment is to be had in Towanda now at 50 cents an hour.

In connection with the work that Mutchler & Sons have done it is understood that this same firm has the contract for tearing down the old bridge, and will commence the work in the Spring, after the high water has passed.

ATLANTIC REFINING COMPANY

AN AUTUMN REUNION.

Luther Descendants Gather and Organize Permanently.

The first annual reunion of the descendants of Enoch and Polly Luther was held at the home of C. C. Mace, on Wednesday, Oct. 24, guests to the number of 35 being present. After greetings and handshakings, during the morning hours, the company at noon sat down to a fine dinner prepared by the "Luther women," and which on that account was a rare feast.

At 2 o'clock a meeting was called to order by Philo Bostwick, as chairman, Mrs. Hattie Stroupe acting as secretary. Mrs. Helen Mace led in prayer, after which officers were elected for the ensuing year as follows:

President, Enoch Luther; vice president, Hiram Luther; secretary and treasurer, Mrs. Florence Morgan; historian, B. K. Luther. It was decided that the next reunion be held at Hiram Luther's home in Luthers Mills in September, 1907. All deeply regretted the absence of Elliott Luther, who lives in Iowa, Mrs. Angeline Clark, who lives in Michigan, and Mrs. Mary Strope of Troy, B. K. Luther of Eldredsville, Pa. These are all that are left of a family of 17. A pleasant feature of the occasion was that it was also the 29th anniversary of the wedding of Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Mace. A vote of thanks was given to the host and hostess for their splendid hospitality.

FINE DAYS FOR DUCKS.

Two Bagged One Day and Reports Say Plenty More Ready.

Local sportsmen may with possible profit take their attention for a time from grouse and other wood game, and devote their effort to the river banks in this vicinity, for ducks are reported to be arriving in considerable numbers. In the Susquehanna, near Athens on Tuesday, several fine, fat ducks were bagged, and yesterday Charles McCracken, while at the rear of the court house, saw a small flock swimming near the banks. Going for his gun, he came upon the wild fowl near the island and secured two large ones.

A Sweet Story.

In June last, bees swarmed on the side of the house belonging to M. A. Overpeck of Herrickville, near a small knot hole. He gathered the swarm, believing he had them all, and placed the bees in a hive. They made, beside filling the hive, 38 pound boxes of honey. The farmer noticed a number of bees coming and going to and from the knot hole on the side of the house where he had first seen the swarm. Removing some sidings from the house, he found three cards of honey three feet long and 18 inches wide; the honey taken from the clapboards weighed 68 pounds, and Mr. Overpeck is congratulating himself on his good fortune.

Kicked by a Horse.

Rev. E. B. Palmer, pastor of the Litchfield Methodist church, was seriously injured Saturday night by being kicked in the forehead by a horse. While driving down a steep hill, the breeching slipped up and Mr. Palmer leaned over the dash to adjust it. The animal kicked striking the man with sufficient force to render him unconscious. He was taken to a nearby residence and did not regin his senses for an hour. The accident happened near the Fox residence near Pleasant Valley.—Athens News.

WHAT HAPPENED AT A DINNER PARTY.

A Unique Hallowe'en Dinner Followed Secret Wedding.

When the members of a little dinner party given Wednesday evening by Miss Eleanor Morris, at Burns's restaurant, gathered at the prettily decorated tables, they had no idea that there were among them a bride and groom, but such was the romantic fact. In honor of Clifford Marsh of New Milford, Conn., Miss Morris invited a few young friends to join her in a Hallowe'en party. The traditions of the ancient holiday were cleverly carried out, the only light at the table being from real Jacko' lantern, and Autumn fruits, nuts and other appropriate table accessories being in evidence. It turned out that the place cards, in one or two instances were especially appropriate, for the inscription at the place of the young person supposed to be Miss Mable Bennett read "The way to do a thing is just to go and do it." At the conclusion of the feast, Mr. Marsh calmly announced that he and his wife would have to hurry to catch their train, as they were about to start on their wedding journey. Miss Bennett was the bride.

Those present were beside the hostess Miss Kate Dean, Lester Pierce, Wesley McCraney and Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Marsh, whose wedding had been solemnized at half past six o'clock on Wednesday evening, and who after the very quiet ceremony had mingled with their friends none of whom were aware of the wedding, as if getting married were only an incident in the day's pleasures. After a wedding trip to points East they will reside in New Milford, Conn.

Bennett—Marsh.

Miss Mable Santee Bennett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Bennett of Towanda, and Clifford Homer Marsh, of New Milford, Conn., were married Oct. 31, at the Methodist Episcopal church. The wedding was a quiet one, there being no attendants. Mr. and Mrs. Marsh will reside at New Milford, Conn. Cards were sent out Thursday by the bride's parents.

For a Subway Crossing.
